Music plans presented to board hone in on core of 'park' concept

By DARLENE STINSON

A proposal to split the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) bands into Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high school groups involves more than trumpets and clarinets.

The proposal involves the age-old question of quality vs. quantity as well as opportunity for the greatest number of students. The proposal to split the bands points directly to the basic concept of the Centennial Educational Park.

MEMBERS OF the Plymouth Community School Board met Monday night with band director James Griffith and Plymouth Canton Principal Kent Buikema to discuss proposals for the CEP music program.

Board members will further discuss an administrative proposal to split the bands and Griffith's proposal for a "total music program" with combined bands before taking final action.

To initiate a two-year-old resolution of a previous school board, the district's administration has proposed separate band programs for Salem and Canton high schools by the 1976-77 school year.

Griffith favors maintaining the status quo of the CEP's band program, under which students from both high schools audition for membership in a hierarchy of accredited bands—the symphonic concert, variety and cadet.

Students currently audition for membership in the CEP marching band, a unit which performs during Salem and Canton high school football games on a non-credit basis.

PERSONS IN favor of the band split say more bands would enable more students to participate in the band of their choice.

The symphony band, often considered the "top" band at the CEP, accepts only students with top audition scores, while membership in the marching band is limited to the number of available uniforms.

Buikema says many student at Canton High show little interest in the music program, because it is identified with Plymouth Salem.

"Providing for identity for your own school seems to provide a greater amount of interest," he maintains. "I'm concerned whether a kid has an opportunity to make a band and play for his school."

To open the music program to more students at the CEP, Griffith suggests the establishment of a "total music" program, under which such classes as guitar, piano, creative music, music composition, music literature and beginning instrumental classes would be offered to all students at the Park.

"The typical music program of 'band-orchestra-chorus' has been the standard offering in secondary schools for over half a century in the United States," said Griffith in a letter to School Supt. John M. Hoben.

"Consequently, literally hundreds of thousands of American youth have not been able to avail themselves of any formal musical experience or training, because they simply were not interested in 'band-orchestra-chorus' as their musical course selection.

"In Plymouth, we have the unique opportunity to create one of the most total secondary music programs in the United States with our arrangement of two high schools back to back. I submit to you that we leave the band area at status quo.

"I submit to you that we as educators turn our sights on the 90 per cent and make every last effort to involve a large percentage of this number in some music-related curriculum."

IF THE CEP bands were split and another band director hired, no one at the CEP would be qualified to teach such "specialty" courses, Griffith maintains.

"Just because you're a specialist in the band area doesn't mean you can teach guitar. If we're going to expose 100 kids to guitar, I think we should have an expert."

According to Hoben, the school district's current budget could not support a split band and "total music" program.

Some fear the administration's proposal to phase in separate band programs for the two high schools by the 1976-77 school year could erode the basic concept on an educational park, first envisioned by former School Supt. Russell L. Isbister and school board member Carl Schultheiss in the early 1960s.

Initial plans for the CEP outlined the construction of four high schools on the site at Joy and Canton Center. The high schools would be paired to share facilities and programs. The sharing would enable the district to offer programs whose cost would otherwise be prohibitive.

Splitting the bands would lead to a more individual identity of Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools.

State is blasted for ignoring Ford Rd. boulevard request

CANTON—The concrete and cement of Ford Road will one day evolve into a green, shrubbery-lined boulevard, if township Supervisor Robert Greenstein has his way.

Greenstein is fighting the Michigan State Highway Department's plans to widen Canton's segment of Ford Road into a five-lane highway.

INSTEAD, the supervisor is requesting construction of a four-lane highway divided by a median from the I-275 interchange to Canton Center Road or the township's western boundary.

The median, he maintains, would insure safer left-hand turns and a more aesthetically pleasing drive through the township.

But Greenstein's efforts, so far, have met little success.

Township letters, written to the highway department last December, and last week, and numerous telephone calls to highway department offices remain unanswered.

Greenstein is enlisting the aid of State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) to establish better communication lines with state highway department officials.

In a letter written last week to John P. Woodford, director of the State Highway Department, Greenstein stressed the desirability of the boulevard.

"I want you to know that this township intends to fight along any avenue that is available to us, either legal, political or otherwise, in order to obtain your cooperation to insure a boulevard down Ford Road at least from the interchange of I-275 west to Canton Center Road, if not to the end of the township.

"Because we have the fastest developing township in the nation at the present time, I think we at least have the right to some acknowledgment from our own State Highway Department."

"I feel that your constantly ignoring our pleas is the example of government that ultimately caused the revolt that next year we will be celebrating as our 200th anniversary."

CONSTRUCTION of the boulevard would only slightly modify the State Highway Department's plans for a five-lane highway, Greenstein maintains. The boulevard would replace the center left-turn lane.

"It's cheaper to build curbs and plant grass in between than to build 20 feet of highway. Grass seed is a lot cheaper than cement. A boulevard makes it safer to make a left-hand turn and makes head-on collisions practically impossible.

"I've been trying to get this thing ever since I came into office."

History workshop may be scheduled

A five-week workshop, designed to discuss techniques of producing oral histories for bicentennial projects, may be held in September, if 10 or more community residents express interest in attending the workshop.

The workshop is tentatively scheduled to begin in Plymouth's Dunning Hough Library in mid-September with five two-hour sessions scheduled for each Thursday afternoon. The cost will be $18.75 per person.

Patricia Pilling, instructor at Wayne State University's College of Life-Long Learning, will head the workshop. Library staff members and students at the Centennial Educational Park, who are producing an oral history of the Plymouth-Canton community this summer, will attend.

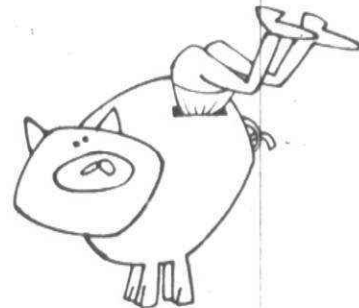

Groups or individuals interested in attending the workshop should call Beth Simescu or Pat Thomas at the Dunning Hough Library.

State urged to alter bill blocking SC-WSU plan

By SUE ROSIEK

Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas (R-Livonia) is urging county and state officials to take a second look at the Schoolcraft College-Wayne State University consortium proposal, which includes leasing the Wayne County Child Development Center in Northville.

The county public works committee Monday approved a resolution, submitted by Mrs. Dumas, asking the State House Appropriations Committee to delete language in the community college appropriation bill that would prohibit two-year institutions from joining four-year schools in any agreement which calls for "leasing, rental, or purchase of space without specific legislative authorization."

The committee's resolution is scheduled to be discussed by the board of commissioners today (Thursday).

MRS. DUMAS, who served on the Schoolcraft (SC) Board of Trustees from September 1971 to December 1972, has mailed letters urging that language in Section 17 of SB 306 be deleted so the SC-WSU consortium proposal may be realized. The letter was sent to all Wayne County legislators, State Rep. Dominic Jacobetti (D-Negaunee), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, and all his committee members.

"Section 17 of the community college bill completely goes against that in the separate four-year institution bill which stresses cooperation," says Mrs. Dumas.

THE COUNTY PUBLIC works committee and a special committee last fall accepted the SC-WSU master plan and lease agreement for use of the child development center, a 700-acre facility which includes 43 buildings on Sheldon between Five and Six Mile roads. The plan was never reported to the full county board because of the Senate bill's language.

"The Northville facility has been vacated since last November, and the cost to SC and Wayne State University (WSU) has already been tremendous," says Mrs. Dumas. "If the building isn't occupied within 18 months after it is vacated the cost could run in the millions."

The child development facility would provide laboratory space and would also make possible the development of an area vocational skills center besides allowing SC to expand its programs and services.

Mrs. Dumas' letter points out that the "WSU position in Wayne County is unique. Wayne has always been a commuter school... The SC-WSU consortium proposal is merely an expansion of the urban college concept and does not pose a threat to any other four-year schools in the area. The consortium proposal would better serve the community and provide unique courses which otherwise might not be offered to residents in the Schoolcraft district."

DR. C. NELSON GROTE, Schoolcraft president, and George Gullen, WSU president, recently signed an agreement which promises greater cooperation in providing postsecondary education between the two schools for residents in the SC area. The Schoolcraft district includes Livonia, Clarenceville, Garden City, Plymouth and Northville school districts.

The agreement outlines the educational roles of community colleges and four-year institutions but does not include any provision for use of the child development facility.

Gullen and Dr. Grote agree that if the Legislature gives the go-ahead the two schools could start planning to use the center this fall, but added that holding classes there in the fall is "unlikely."

Under terms of the agreement, Sill provide freshman and sophomore level courses that may lead to a certificate or associate degree, and vocational education.

WSU will be responsible for providing upper division junior and senior level courses leading to a baccalaureate degree, graduate and professional programs.

The two schools already have a "2-plus-2" program available in several technical areas, which allows students to take two years at SC and the last two years at WSU. Under the recent agreement the courses offered under 2-plus-2 will be expanded. Career counseling also is included in the agreement.

DR. GROTE recently appeared with several representatives of community colleges before the appropriations committee and asked that the prohibitive language in Section 17 be deleted and replaced with a more positive approach.

"My general reading of the committee was favorable," says Dr. Grote. "The group seemed prepared and asked some very penetrating questions. All in all, my impression was favorable."

He added that Mrs. Dumas' action regarding the bill's stipulation is the result of her periodic checking on the consortium proposal.

The Schoolcraft district is not represented on either the Senate or House appropriations community college sub-committees. Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) is a member of the full Senate Appropriations Committee.

MARTY CORTE, who lives just down the road, says he's a veteran of seven years as a corn picker.

FLAT BED TRAILER piled high with sweet corn, the pickers ride back to the packing shed to pick up an empty trailer. Russ Palmer drives the tractor.

Raising corn is big business for the Palmers in Canton

It's sweet corn season in Canton Township.

The first dozen ears were picked July 6 on the Palmer farm on Warren Road, the same day the last sowing was made.

From now until a killing October frost, the pickers will average 600 to 750 bags of corn a day, five days a week. Each bag contains five dozen plus three ears.

Dick Palmer is one of a handful of farmers left in the township. His father, Warren; his grandfather, Fred; and his great-grandfather George, farmed in the area.

THE PALMERS have an early 19th century map of Wayne County which lists the residents and their occupations. A small star marks Dearbornville, but there is an Aaron Palmer, farmer, on what is now Palmer Road in the township.

With the big land boom, the Palmers have had to yield to the population influx. Sunflower Village and Sunflower Village Phase II were their corn fields not too long ago.

It was 45 years ago, when Dick was one year old, that the Palmers first supplied the Kroger stores with sweet corn.

FIRST PLANTING was April 17. Three varieties with graduating rates of maturity were sown. As the season advanced, different kinds of hybrid seed were planted.

Looking over the fields, Palmer pointed out the sections in varying stages of growth. The earliest varieties already were cut and the stalks chopped for silage.

Three sprayings are usually necessary to combat the corn borers, ear worms and other pests that attack the plants. First treatment is when the stalks are about knee high. The huge spraying rig, with four nozzles on each side and one on the back, covers eight rows at one passing.

When the season is in full swing, pickers start down the rows by 7 a.m. Tractor-drawn flatbed trailers are filled in the fields. These are bought up to the packing shed and carefully counted into heavy plastic bags—60 ears and three more—in case there is a bad one.

THE BAGS are stored in the cooling shed at a temperature slightly above freezing.

"Corn starts giving off heat as soon as it is picked," said Palmer, "and the sugar turns to starch."

Crushed ice is placed in the bags to maintain the low temperature on the trip to the warehouse where they are immediately refrigerated.

Corn picked in the morning travels in refrigerated trucks to be sold in super markets the next day.

Over the years, picking corn for the Palmers has been summer employment for many Plymouth high school students. This year there are 12 teenage pickers.

"That has been one of the nicest things about this business," said Dick's wife, Joan. "We have had so many nice kids working for us. They come back to visit and when they get married, we're invited to their weddings."

Sweet corn is big business.

From the 138 acres under cultivation this year, the Palmers deliver about 38,000 ears a day, Monday through Friday, to the Livonia warehouse. A very small percentage is sold to owners of roadside stands and persons who drop in at the packing shed.

Palmer sweet corn has been shipped to New Jersey, West Virginia, Nebraska and Texas.

Chamber moves, sets open house

CANTON—The Canton Chamber of Commerce will throw open the doors of its new office this weekend to celebrate its relocation.

The public is invited to the open house, scheduled for Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Chamber's new office located in the new Norwood Realty office, 5834 N. Sheldon in the Harvard Square Shopping Center.

Chamber officials moved their belongings from the former Chamber office, in the Wayne Bank at 41652 Ford, this week. The move was necessary, because bank officials plan to close the temporary building and construct a permanent facility.

The telephone number of the Chamber's new office will remain the same as that of the Ford Road facility.

Chamber officials hope to serve the community from the new office location, until the Chamber can finance a facility of its own.

KEVIN CASADY (left) of California helps cousin Rob Palmer fill plastic bags with ears of corn.

WILL THERE BE another generation of Palmers in the sweet corn business?

"Rick is a senior at Michigan State," said Mrs. Palmer. "He's going to be a teacher. Wendy is a junior there; she's in agriculture engineering."

Rob is a junior at Plymouth Salem High.

"When Wendy gets back from Europe and Rick finishes summer school, they'll all be helping with the corn."

"But none of them will be farmers."

Grand opening set for outdoor market

Area residents, farmers and flea market vendors will have a place to buy and sell their wares starting this weekend with the opening of a three-acre outdoor market on Michigan Avenue west of Newburgh.

The open-air market will feature local farmers' produce at wholesale prices as well as a flea market, antique sale and arts and crafts display.

THE MARKET is scheduled to be open every Saturday and Sunday from 9 a.m. to dusk.

Canton resident Robert Skolnik, owner of the open market project, hopes this weekend's grand opening will mark the beginning of bigger and better things.

Plans to construct a city-block-size building are on the drawing board, and Skolnik hopes the market will eventually remain open seven days a week.

The market is designed to give western Wayne County farmers a place to sell their produce and residents a place to buy fresh farm products at wholesale prices.

The flea market and arts and crafts display will provide the flavor of one-stop shopping.

"EVERYBODY will make out," said Skolnik. "The farmers can draw from the flea market people, and the flea market people can draw from the farmers."

The three-acre site provides room for 200 dealers, according to Skolnik. An additional plot of almost two acres will be used if more dealers express interest in the market.

Persons interested in renting a plot of land should contact Robert Skolnik, 41164 Canton Court, Canton Township, or Frank Skolnik, 1932 Byrd, Dearborn. A 400-square-foot plot of land will rent for $5 per day. Weekly and monthly rates are lower.

JC Fair will feature bicentennial booth

CANTON — Two special booths to promote township bicentennial programs will be featured in the upcoming Canton Jaycee Fair July 29 through Aug. 2.

The township's bicentennial committee is renting the booths to promote historical projects.

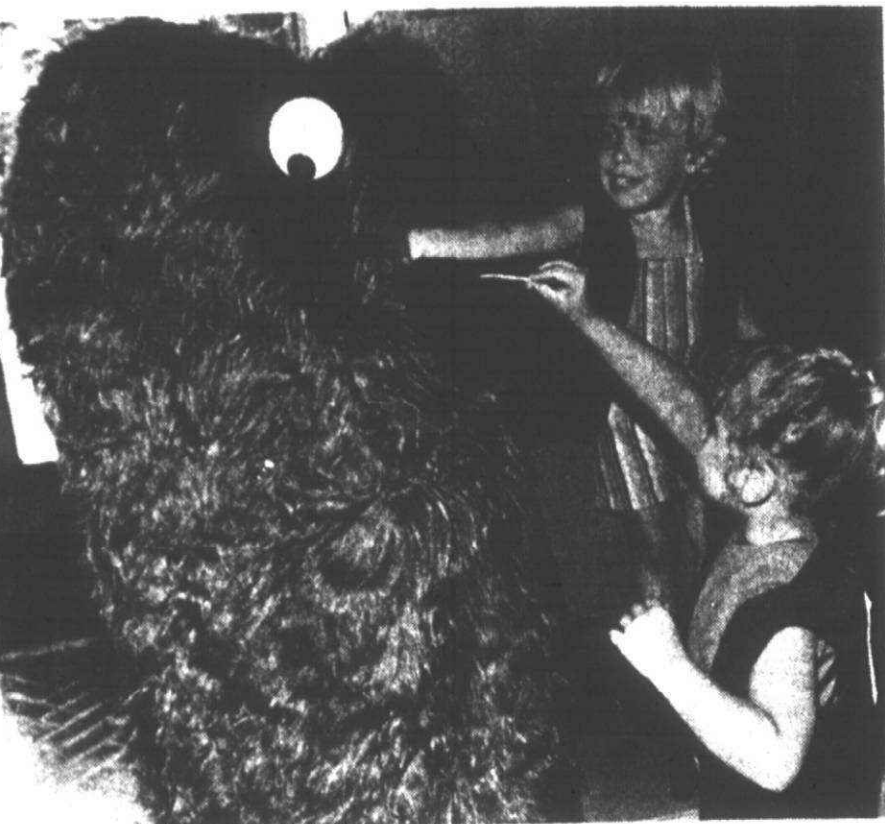

Committeeman Charles Zazula is promoting a Paul Revere horse race from which will emerge the Paul Revere of Canton Township. Persons interested in signing up for the race may do so at one of the bicentennial booths during the fair.

Committee chairman Joseph DeLauro expects an enthusiastic public response to the sale of the bicentennial car bumper stickers with the new Canton emblem.

Committeeman Clarence Partin is researching historical artifacts and is planning to have a display of antiques. Also involved in the project is committeewoman Laurene Buehrle who urges residents to stop by and become involved in the bicentennial plans.

An extensive tree planting project will be introduced to the public during the fair with signatures taken from interested residents. This task is being organized by committeeman John Cojeli.

THE JAYCEES are working now to organize a dunk tank so residents can have a chance to dunk Canton officials for a nominal fee.

KEN NEAL dons the costume of the Cookie Monster of "Sesame Street" fame in preparation for the second annual Canton Fair sponsored by the Canton Jaycees. Feeding the Cookie Monster are Brian Neal (center), 2, and Deanna Golsinski, 4. (Staff photo by Bob Woodring).

Thursday, July 31, will be Kiddies Day for the second annual Canton Fair from noon to six p.m. There will be reduced rates for rides for youngsters between 4-6 p.m. The "Cookie Monster" will be available to eat any cookies from youngsters wanting to feed him.

Good food may be found at the food booth sponsored by the Canton Township Jaycee Auxiliary from 4-8 p.m. each day. The menu will feature sloppy joes, fresh corn on the cob, and soft drinks.

UNDER THE TREE program, Canton Township offices will maintain a record of individuals, groups and businesses wanting to contribute funds, purchase their own trees, or volunteer time to plant trees.

All trees planted under the program must be recorded. The person in charge of documenting each tree will note donor, tree name and location planted. Each tree will be numbered sequentially and tagged.

The final tree, number 1,776, will be planted on July 4, 1976.

The tree registration book will then be turned over to the Canton Township Historical Museum.

Trees planted must comply with the township tree ordinance with diameters of at least 1 8 inches thick and at least 10 feet tall. A recommended list is available at township hall, 44508 Geddes Road.

The trees must be planted on designated township properties, on front properties of private residences or businesses in full public view and where destruction or removal is unlikely, or along roadsides or highway median where no expansion has been projected in the near future by the township or Wayne County Road Commission.

Top Schoolcraft pupils honored

LIVONIA—The Schoolcraft College dean's list for winter semester includes many Livonia students. Those honored for outstanding scholarship on the dean's list must carry at least 12 credit hours during the semester and earn a 3.5 (A-) or better grade point average. A few students have achieved a perfect 4.0. The following are Livonia's outstanding scholars:

Penny Abrahamson, Christina Andresen, Charles Ankofski, Sharon Beam, Melvena Blanton, Sue Bowyer, Cindy Brown, Paul Burns, Stanley Bush, Terry Camilleri, Susan Casler, Shirley Cervenak, Neal Cezat, Marilyn Chapoton, Barbara Chase, Lai Ha

Senior adults may register at Schoolcraft

An advance registration period for area senior adults who wish to participate in the Study After Retirement Program (START) at Schoolcraft College will be held in the college's Watterman Center July 28 through Aug. 1.

By registering in advance seniors may avoid waiting in long lines during regular fall registration.

The START program provides an ID card for senior citizens which makes them eligible for programs and services at the college at a special rate or without charge.

To qualify for the card, seniors should be residents of the Schoolcraft College district and be retired from full-time employment.

"We issue temporary cards when seniors first register with us," said Betty Andrews, who heads senior adult programs at the college. "But dates for obtaining a permanent one have been set."

These dates are Aug. 11 and 12 and Sept. 16 and 17 from 10 a.m. to noon and 1-3 p.m., both days.

The card entitles seniors to register for college credit classes with a tuition grant of up to $50.

Girls hurt in freeway accident

LIVONIA—Three Livonia girls were injured, one suffering a fractured pelvis, when they were struck by a car early Saturday morning on the I-96 median near Lansing.

The girls were standing on the me-dian after getting out of vehicles which were backed up in a traffic jam resulting from another auto accident which happened seconds before.

The three are Lynn Hollowell, 14, of 29132 Oriole Drive, who suffered a broken pelvis, bruises and abrasions; Shari Kirsh, 14, of 14146 Cardwell, who suffered fractured ribs and bruises; and Adina Blum, 7, of 14406 Brentwood, who sustained bruises and abrasions.

Miss Hollowell was in Sparrow Hos-pital as of late Monday afternoon, the East Lansing state police post report-ed.

The others were treated and re-leased.

Police officials said the girls were on the median, about six to eight feet off the roadway when they were struck by a car driven by Charles Neil, 18, of Lansing, charged with being drunk and disorderly. He was taken to Ingham County jail.

Troopers said Miss Hollowell was struck by the center of the auto's grill.

Fall completion set for Ann Arbor Rd.

Motorists weary of construction traffic on Ann Arbor Road will have to wait until September for a roadway clear of construction crews and barricades.

Ray Serier, project engineer for the Michigan State Highway Department, says widening of the road to five lanes from Sheldon to Newburgh is just about complete.

Before the widened roadway is completely opened to traffic, workers will level and blacktop the entire five lanes, construct curbs and gutters and complete "odd and end" projects at intersections, Serier said.

The road and access to stores along Ann Arbor Road will remain open during construction work.

Serier expects completion of the $2.8 million state construction project sometime in September.

Township asked to give more to joint programs for youth

Growth Works, the merged organization consisting of Youth Incorporated and Our House, has received a $6,000 donation from the City of Plymouth.

In approving the donation, though, city commissioners expressed some displeasure over the contributions to the youth groups made by Plymouth Township and Canton Township.

Commissioners felt the townships should be asked to share more in the total expense of the two youth groups, especially since the city paid insurance on the building and made an added "donation" in the form of uncollectible taxes on the Youth Incorporated building.

DAVE SMITH, a member of the board of directors of Youth Incorporated, said the new youth organization has a combined budget of $40,000 for 1975-76.

The Plymouth Community Fund contributed $10,000 this year and has pledged $20,000 for '75-76.

Last year, Plymouth contributed $6,000, Plymouth Township gave $2,000 and Canton Township contributed $3,100. Of those using Youth Incorporated, 45 per cent are city residents, 40 per cent are Canton residents, and 15 per cent are Plymouth Township residents.

At the request of Mayor Beverly McAnich, Police Chief Tim Ford reported that both youth groups are very helpful to and cooperative with the police departments.

"I'd like to see the townships pay more of their share," said Commissioner Joe Bida. "The building used by Youth Inc. is in the city and off the tax roll."

Smith said he would like the city to maintain its contribution of $6,000 in hopes that both townships would increase their support.

Commissioner Robert Sincok pointed out the city pays $750 a year in insurance premiums on the building, and makes a type of donation in lost revenues because the building is off the tax rolls. In 1971, the last year the building was taxed, the city received $750 in real property tax revenues.

The building, once headquarters for the Plymouth Mail and Observer, was donated by Observer Newspapers Inc. four years ago.

The building was supplied rent-free for Youth Inc. on a five-year lease basis with the city holding the property in trust.

The building occupied by Our House is owned by 35th District Judge Dunbar Davis, who retains title and pays taxes but allows the youth group use of the building with a 10-year lease.

BILL McANNICH, active in Our House, said Our House has operated on a $35,000 federal grant for the past 1½ years, but those funds have been discontinued.

Commissioner Norbert Battermann commented that the Growth Works was but one of many situations of continuing imbalance between the city and townships in sharing expenses of joint programs.

COMMISSIONER Harold Guenther suggested that what the townships do was not the city's primary concern.

"These are out kids with problems and we should help them. And right now we don't have a good track record from the townships that we can follow."

Commissioner Jack Moehle commented: "If these two organizations should cease to operate, I'm sure the city would be faced with much greater expenses in other areas."

Bida said he would have preferred to see a request for a $4,000 donation but voted with the other commissioners in unanimously approving the $6,000 contribution.

THE OUR HOUSE crisis center operates a crisis counseling program involving a phone "hot-line" and walk-in center.

Other services include ongoing counseling, medical clinic, speakers bureau, Parent Experience Exchange, Transactional Analysis, and counselor training.

Of those residents served, 23 per cent are age 13-16, 27 per cent from 17-20 and 19 per cent from age 30-40. Some 71 per cent are female and 29 per cent male.

Youth Inc. in 1974 served 2,000 persons with an average daily participation of 125 to 175. The primary age group served is 13-21 with a secondary group of age 21-56.

Among the activities offered are pool, table tennis, social activities, a food co-op, job program, learning center, and a school community service programs.

Other community groups which use the Youth Inc. building, either on a permanent basis or from time to time, include Plymouth Canton Northville YMCA, Towne and Country 4-H of Plymouth and Canton, Plymouth-Northville League of Women Voters, and assorted groups such as Sweet Adelines vocal group, New Morning School, and FISH.

Growth Works expects to raise $1,250 from its annual dinner next February, $1,200 during the Plymouth Fall Festival, and grants from numerous churches, the Plymouth Police Officers Association, Plymouth Elks, and Plymouth Education Association. A deficit of $3,000 has been projected.

Windsor Park hearing slated

CANTON—Residents of Windsor Park Subdivision will have an opportunity to air their feelings about a proposed change in the planned unit development's (PUD) blueprints at a public hearing scheduled for Aug. 19 at 8 p.m.

Developer Richard Lewiston of Practical Home Builders, Inc., proposes to scrap a 192-unit multiple family development on a 16-acre segment of the PUD and construct single family houses. The proposed change would subtract more than two acres from the PUD's 10-acre commercial segment.

Said Lewiston: "We want a plan that allows us to do what the people in the subdivision deserve—elimination of the multiple dwellings."

The change would reduce the density on the site from 12.3 units per acre to 4.3.

Glenn's 1st principal tells retirement

By MARILYN FITCHETT

WESTLAND—After resisting years of pressure from three school superintendents, to join the Wayne-Westland administrative staff, Frank Higgins has decided to leave practically the only home he has ever known.

The first and only principal of John Glenn High School, Higgins will give up that post this fall to become assistant superintendent for curriculum.

His only other school assignment was at Wayne Memorial High School.

Looking about his empty office, Higgins recalled he came to Glenn "before the first shovels were turned." His first office was in a small farmhouse on the Glenn site.

I HAD BEEN asked to think about the job by the past three superintendents. Finally when Warren Spurlin left, I figured it was time to apply," Higgins said of his new appointment.

"It was a difficult decision. I don't think I'll ever make another decision that will cause me as much consternation. I've never thought about something longer, harder or vacillated more before deciding.

"I came to clean out my office on a Sunday when nobody was here. It took me a half day to look over all the thing I had collected. If someone had offered me the chance to come back to Glenn then, I would have said yes within 10 seconds.

"But now I'm excited about my new job. I love working in curriculum. It will be a total commitment now."

Higgins said his greatest accomplishment as a principal was getting individualized curriculum for the high school.

"We're getting close to our goal now," he said. "I hope we're allowing for individual differences."

Although students are given more freedom now, Higgins doesn't believe today's students are different from those of 11 years ago.

"They have a lot more freedom, particularly in the area of dress. We thought they might be a lot looser and prone to get into difficulty, but that hasn't been true at all.

"We've been blessed with good kids. Their brothers and sisters have come here, and they feel a strong allegiance to the school.

"We have a lot of activities here, and I think that gives students a feeling of warmth.

"It's hard to talk about that now when it's so empty and cold. But it's there, and you can feel it when the students and teachers are here."

HIGGINS IS proudest of his staff's ability to relate to students and their ability to relate to the staff.

His biggest disappointment was the loss of the tax millage question in June.

In his new position, Higgins said he was going to be sensitive to the coordination between the elementary and the junior highs, and between the junior highs and the high schools.

"In the sixth and seventh grades there is a strong need for continuation so there is not a great gap when a student leaves one school and heads for the next."

Higgins said he would also be giving special attention to the child who has learning difficulties.

"I want to make sure a kid is reading when he leaves elementary school," he said.

HIGGINS RECALLED one his funnier moments on the job when he accompanied a group of students on a canoe trip.

"I told them to be very courteous to the trout fisherman. But the only one to get in trouble with the fisherman was me."

His advice to his successor is to listen to the staff and students.

"With their guidance I can assure him the same wonderful time that I've had."

New teachers join district

Five teachers have resigned or taken a leave of absence and 22 new teachers and staff members have been hired by the Plymouth Community School District.

Leaving are: Margaret Bearup, English-social studies teacher at Pioneer School, and John H. Emery, sixth grade teacher at Pioneer.

Taking leaves of absence of one year are: Julie E. Booher, seventh grade math-science teacher at Pioneer; Mary E. Elser, physical education, Pioneer; and Edna Fleming, second grade teacher at Bird School.

New hires include: Nina Goodwin, MA University of Michigan, social worker; Darlene Huyck, Mercy School of Nursing, school nurse; Ronald Myers, MA from Eastern Michigan University, teacher consultant.

Others are: Raymond Franzen, MA from EMU; Terri Lynn Hennings, BA from Western Michigan University, humanities at Bird and Central schools; John Pfluecke, MA from EMU, Central Middle School; Rose A. Portelli, BA from EMU, Miller School; Kenneth Smith, MA from EMU; Claudia Tull, bachelor of music from U-M, music teacher for Miller; Patricia Peruski, BA from Michigan State University; and Barbara B. Hill, MA from U-M, Latin teacher for Plymouth Salem High.

Faust, Pursell back strike bill

LANSING—Suburban senators split 3-1 with one absent as the Michigan Senate Tuesday gave 20 to 14 approval to a teacher strike bill that Gov. Milliken has threatened to veto.

Supporting the bill, reshaped to the liking of the AFL-CIO and the United Auto Workers, were Sens. Daniel Cooper (D-Oak Park), whose district includes Farmington and Southfield; William Faust (D-Westland), whose district includes Garden City and Canton Township; and Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), whose district includes Livonia and Redford Township.

Opposed was Sen. David Plawewski (D-Dearborn Heights), whose district includes the often-struck Crestwood School District.

Absent was Donald Bishop (R-Rochester), whose district includes Rochester, Troy and most of the Birmingham-Bloomfield area.

PURSELL THUS split with most of his party on a version of the bill that would legalize teacher strikes lasting until Oct. 1.

The bill goes back to the House, where it originated. The House is expected to approve the Senate version.

Capitol observers doubted there would be any new teacher strike law this year because of the impasse between labor-oriented Democrats and the Republican governor.

In that event, Michigan school districts would operate under the current law, which on paper prohibits teacher strikes but which in practice has resulted in work stoppages that have lasted months.

PRIOR TO Tuesday's floor action, the bill would have allowed strikes of up to three weeks with losses of salary if the strike continued past Sept. 9.

But Senate Democratic leader William B. Fitzgerald, with the aid of labor lobbyists, maneuvered an amendment that would allow strikes of up to four weeks, with loss of salary in the third and fourth weeks.

The House version, even more popular with labor, would have permitted legal strikes of nearly five weeks, with loss of salary for only the fourth and fifth weeks.

SC sets early sign-up

Advance registration for fall semester classes at Schoolcraft College will be held the week of July 28-Aug. 1 in the Waterman Campus Center.

Registrar Russ Bogarin has reserved 8:30-9:30 the first two mornings for students who will graduate at the end of the semester. Sophomores whose last names begin with the letters A-H will register at 9:30 a.m., July 28, and those with name I-N at 1 p.m. that afternoon. The balance of the sophomores are scheduled for 9:30 a.m. the following day.

Freshmen with last names A-C register at 1 p.m., July 29, and continue through the alphabet in this schedule: Wednesday, D-G morning and H-K afternoon; Thursday, L-M morning and N-Q afternoon; and Friday, R-T morning and U-Z afternoon.

Students who have never attended Schoolcraft must be admitted to the college before registration can take place. Applications are available from the admissions office on campus or may be obtained by telephoning. Students new to the College also will need to consult a counselor to complete the registration form.

Returning students have the option of counselor-advising or self-advising, but it must be completed prior to registration.

The college has scheduled two later registration periods. Special registration for classes at the center in Garden City will be held on Aug. 14, and regular registration will be held days and evenings August 26-27 on campus. Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

TWO-WEEK LOTTERY BONUS

YOUR CHANCES OF WINNING $10,000 TO $200,000 ARE TWICE AS GOOD

50¢ Tickets dated 7/31/75 and 8/7/75

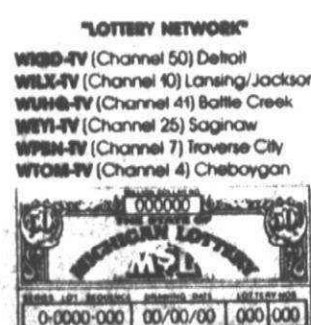

See the winning numbers first on TV Thursdays at 7 p.m.

Starting Thursday (July 24), you'll be able to get your winning Lottery numbers first on the Michigan Lottery's new TV Show at 7 p.m. To celebrate the start of our TV series, the Lottery is doubling your chances of becoming one of the big weekly winners who compete for prizes ranging from $10,000 to $200,000 each week. That's right, your 50¢ "green" tickets dated July 31 and August 7 give you a double chance to win a Super prize. That's in addition to all regular prizes of course.

Here's how the bonus works:

• Two 3-digit bonus numbers will be drawn each week.

Bonus tickets on sale July 22-August 5

• If both July 31 bonus numbers appear on your 50¢ ticket for July 31, you've won at least $10,000.
• If both August 7 bonus numbers appear on your 50¢ ticket for August 7, you've won at least $10,000.
• Matching just one bonus number does not qualify you for a $25 prize.
That's all there is to it. Based on estimated sales, there will be about 42 TV Bonus winners. They'll join regular Super winners in our new TV game show in upcoming weeks. Win or lose, you'll enjoy watching someone win $200,000 every week. The fun starts Thursday night.

Hiking trails should be next on state's list

Tim Richard writes

"I SAY OLD CHAP, FOLLOW US"

Can the folks who manage Michigan's natural resources do for hiking what they've been doing so well for metropolitan area fishing?

The forthcoming Newburgh Lake fishing piers, the chinook salmon stocking in Orchard Lake and the trout plantings in the Huron River below Proud Lake are three facets of a five-year-old "metrofishing" program of our friendly State Department of Natural Resources.

Time was when the trout fishermen, salmon trollers and deer hunters of the hinterlands seemed to be the only beneficiaries of resource management in the Great Lakes State. The hinterlands are still getting their share, but the metropolitan counties—that's us—are in the game now, too.

THE DETROIT River, filthy within the memories of most people living today, is much cleaner today and is becoming a coho and chinook salmon fishery. The St. Clair River and the Huron River below the Flat Rock dam are being stocked.

There has been a rehabilitation program for Big Seven Lake (bass, gills, muskie) and a kokanee salmon experiment in Cass Lake, both in Oakland County.

Fishing piers either on the drawing boards or being developed on Pontiac Lake, at Sterling State Park near Monroe, on Belle Isle and the downtown Detroit riverfront.

The metrofishing program is off the ground and flying. The chaps at DNR say fishing is becoming "the major participation sport of Michigan's major metropolitan area."

CAN IT BE DONE for hiking, too?

For the benefit of suburbanites who use a car for even a trip to the drug store for a package of cancer sticks, hiking involves walking—that is, putting one foot in front of the other over long distances.

There are, to be sure, nature trails in our well-managed Huron-Clinton metroparks. But middle- and long-distance trails are next to non-existent in southern Michigan, and the situation is little better in the northern reaches.

Fortunately, hiking doesn't demand the millions of dollars in water pollution control equipment, toxic chemicals to kill rough fish, hatcheries for gamefish and construction funds for boat landings and piers that the metrofishing program cost.

The British have shown how to do it very cheaply, and without bringing thousands of acres of land into public ownership. The British program involved making deals with landowners for simple rights-of-way along hedgerows, the rows of trees that separate fields or farms.

A hiker doesn't need to control physically a huge amount of land to enjoy it; he can walk along the edge. A hiker doesn't make the kind of racket that a mini-bike demon does.

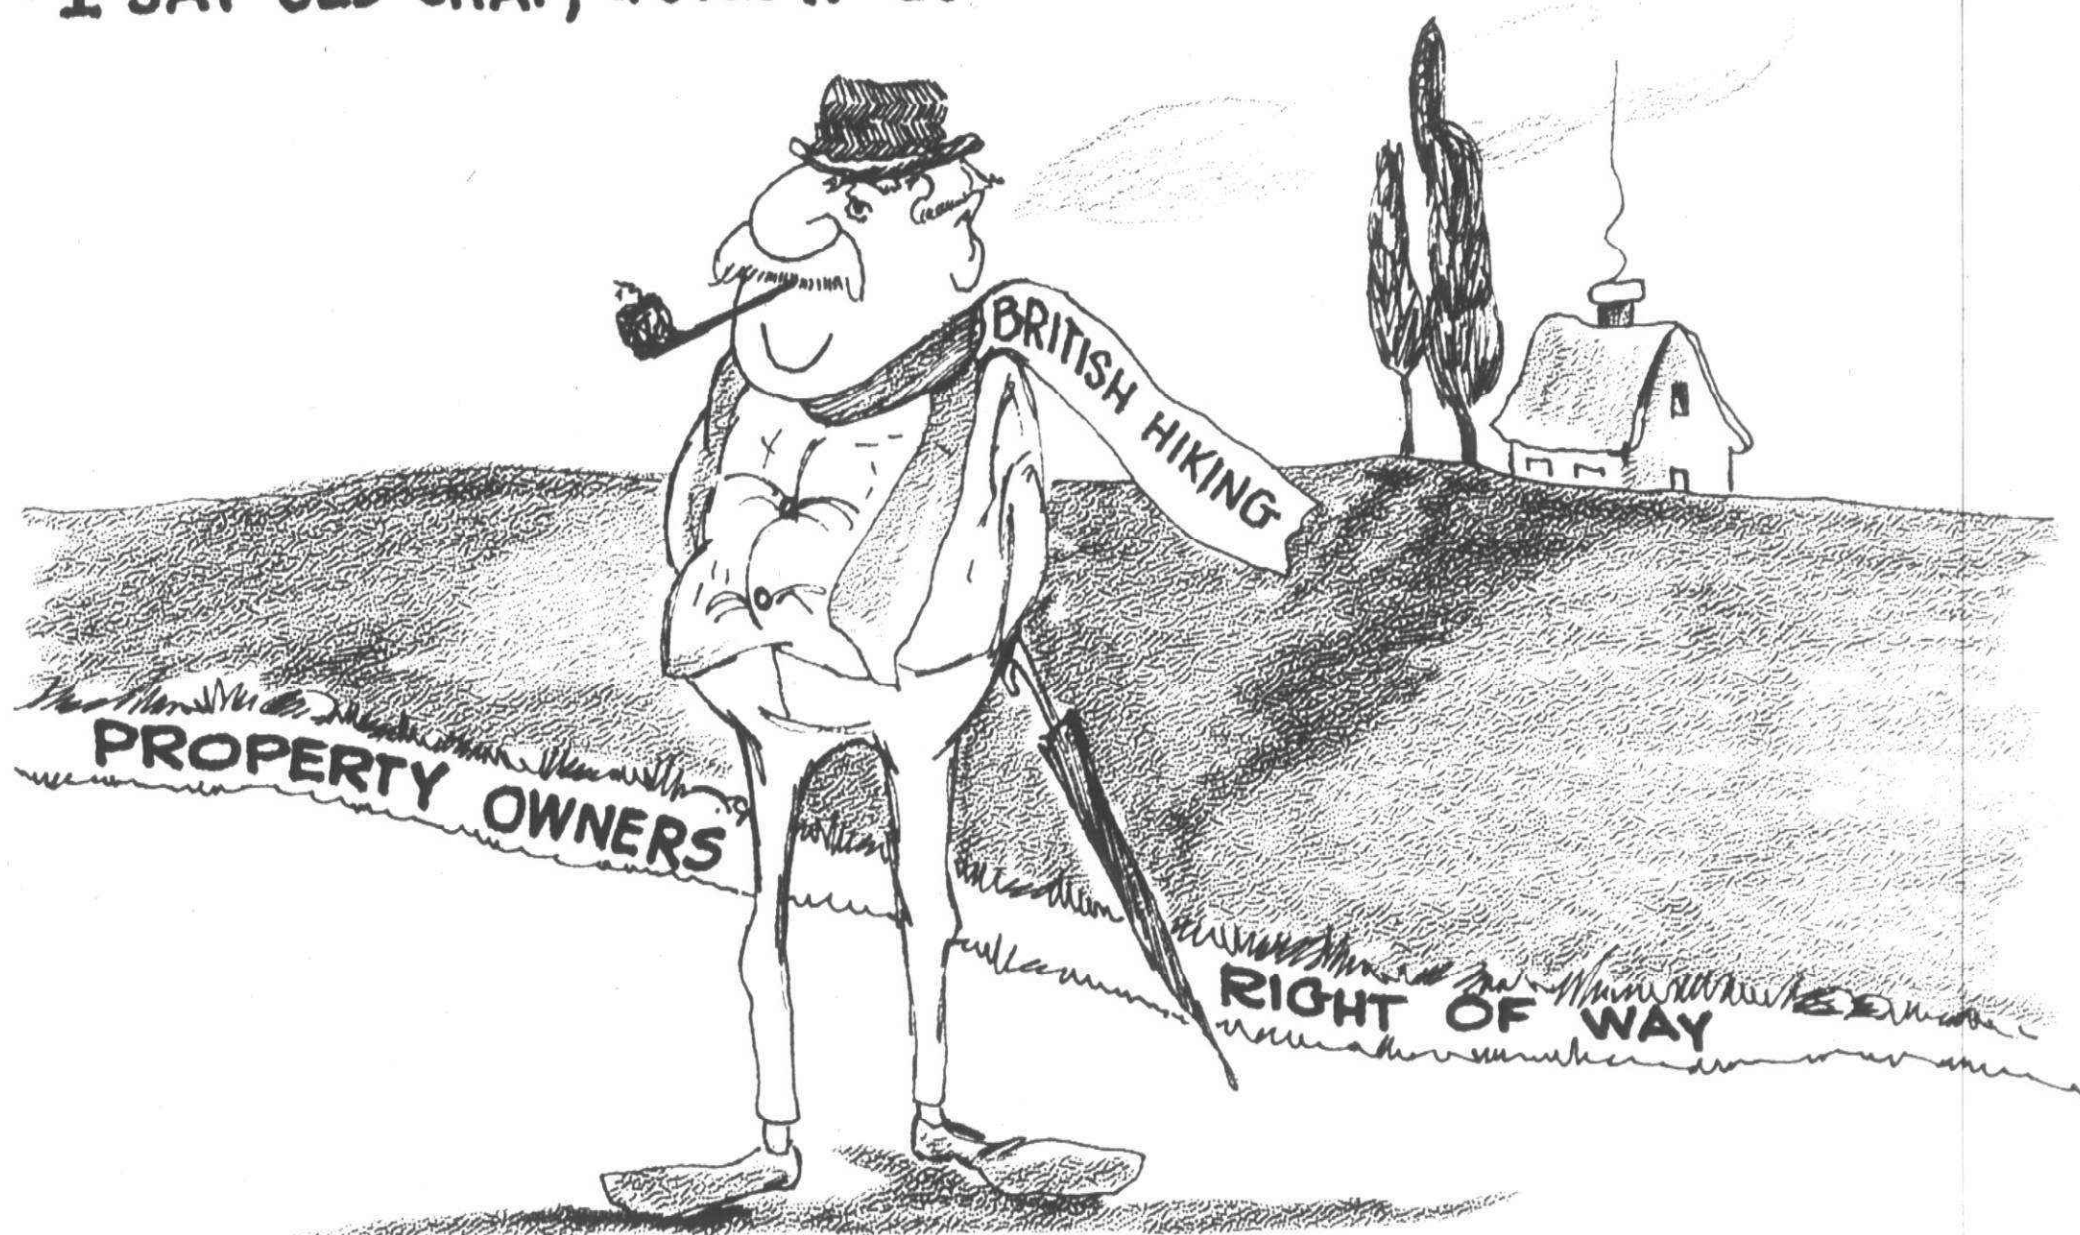

A hiker is even less of a littering risk than a picnicker because the hiker, if he has any sense, doesn't carry carbonated beverages that come in cans or bottles.

A PROGRAM of hiking trails on both public and private land in southeastern Michigan, though fairly cheap to implement, will require a considerable amount of negotiation and education.

Michigan landowners tend to be moderately finicky about posting their properties, though other states are worse. And Michigan consumers, particularly the young, are becoming worse litterers each year; in the aforementioned Huron River stretch below Proud Lake, you are never out of sight of several empty beer cans.

Yet it can be done, it has been done elsewhere and it ought to be done here. Hiking doesn't spin off the kinds of economic benefits that bicycling and tennis do, but it's a healthy and even noble form of quiet recreation. Can state government, the people and the private landowners rise to the challenge?

Suburbs and city share a noose of common problems

A couple of weeks ago Judd Arnett, the amiable and humane guy who writes a column for the Free Press, had a piece headlined "You Suburbanites Need That Detroit Spirit Too."

On first glance, the head put me off more than a bit. It seemed to suggest a lecture by the wise city-folk against the youthful suburbs which are causing all the problems for Detroit. But reading further produced a different impression.

"Frankly," Arnett wrote, "I think Detroit is dead—unless its friends in surrounding communities give more than lip service to its recovery."

Likewise, there is the feeling that there are suburban towns and communities which won't cut it forever unless they, too, become part of a regional "solid front." Somehow there must be stronger grouping of common interests, a more determined expression of the spirit of Detroit, the metropolitan community.

OBVIOUSLY Arnett and many others who have been saying this same thing for many years are quite right. We will all hang together, or else we will all hang separately, twitching in the noose of the gigantic problems that are testing our society in this area.

But to reiterate this point is to reiterate a platitude. The real question, from the suburban standpoint, is what practical consequences flow from such a realization that we are all in the same noose together.

To begin, it is absolutely clear that we are not going to have regionalized political government in this area. The idea of some regional metropolitan council telling Plymouth, for instance, how to handle its affairs is anathema. If anyone needs evidence of how such a thing would work out, just recall the power play the Detroit Water Board tried to pull on the suburbs a couple of months back.

No, we are not going to have regional government, nor should we. But what are we going to have?

ANSWERING that one is not easy, particularly in light of past experience.

When the suburban communities in western Wayne County tried to get some court and other county facilities more conveniently located in Westland, the idea got shot down at the county board faster than it flew up.

Only after mammoth haggling has a preliminary agreement been worked out which would allocate seats on the new Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority board in such a way as to protect both the interests of the suburbs (which have the people) and Detroit (which has the rolling stock.) Suburban leaders, however, including Oakland County Executive Dan Murphy, still don't like the plan and are busy preparing alternatives.

by PHILIP H. POWER

Against that kind of background, it's a little hard to feel that Arnett's call for a more sympathetic attitude toward Detroit's problems by suburban legislators and congressmen will make much of a difference.

A BIG PART of the problem is that very few institutions exist for any kind of useful exchange of ideas between Detroit and the suburbs.

SEMOG, originally, was supposed to help in this process, but it has gotten hopelessly bogged down in endlessly detailed studies of housing and population trends on the one hand and endlessly parochial debates on more important issues on the other.

The State Legislature and the Wayne County Board of Commissioners are, by their very natures, political institutions, where delegates representing fractional interest groups (e.g. Detroit or the suburbs) engage in trade-offs without much chance for thoughtful discussions of longer-run questions. New Detroit has some board members who live in the suburbs, and although greatly useful, its work has by necessity concentrated on Detroit's problems.

The news media in Detroit mostly talk to Detroit news sources, and suburban media talk by and large to suburban sources. So there is little consonance of discussion even in the media.

So where does all this leave us? I'm not sure, except in agreement with Arnett that we should talk more often about these matters.

It's the only way.

Telling signs along the way

In the old days, the signs by the side of the road were part of the fun of traveling by car. The laws banning signs on expressways allow us to enjoy natural beauty more, but condemn us to a certain dullness en route.

Remember, as you were driving along, the restaurants with big signs in front saying "Good Food." Usually, after eating in this type of establishment, you wondered what the alternatives were.

A lot of restaurants had signs saying "Home Cooking." Knowing how some wives cook, the proprietors of these places were taking quite a chance.

ANOTHER GOODIE you used to see along the highway was "Modern Cabins."

This was usually used by cabin owners when a new motel sprang up in the area.

Possibly a cabin became modern when plumbing was installed.

Another favorite, "Clean Restrooms," proclaimed proudly on little old gas stations situated far out in the country.

It's possible that the operator did not know what clean meant.

THE SAME LITTLE old gas station might have the sign "Mechanic on Duty" when there was nobody there but a gent who couldn't pour gas into your car without spilling it.

A sign that always was prominently displayed was "Under New Management" and yet, this

Eccentricities

never really told anyone whether or not this was an improvement.

My favorite phrase is the one that says "World Famous Resort." I have always felt that if you have to use such a title, you aren't.

The law finally cracked down on the use of "Wholesale Prices" but even today you see the sign "Discount Prices" on many stores that are not the cheapest places in town to shop.

A SIGN THAT bothers me today is a trading stamp sign atop a gas station that no longer gives away trading stamps.

"Fast Service" and "Speedy Lunch" many times mean a slow waitress.

"One Day Service" often meant three days when you counted dropping off and picking up days.

The all-time classic, of course, is "Free." What it really meant was that there is no such thing as a free lunch, but they didn't have room to put it on the sign.

Possibly, if the people who had used these phrases had lived up to the billing, they wouldn't have been bypassed by an expressway.

FISH-lines help neighbors

Four FISH organizations—in Livonia, Plymouth, Redford Township and Westland—are in operation.

All provide neighbor-to-neighbor service when it is needed on a short-term basis. This kind of service involves emergency babysitting, transportation to a hospital, a hot meal in a crisis situation and other such assistance.

Each FISH group has a telephone number, and a call to that number will bring referral to one of the volunteers in a position to help.

If you need help, or if you would like to be a volunteer in this program, call the FISH number in your area.

The numbers are:

REDFORD TOWNSHIP	341-3700
WESTLAND	722-3606

Where can I find a job?

Editor:

I am 14 years old, and I want to ask you about employment. I have a booklet, titled "You and the Law," which was passed out to me at school. It said that the earliest age you can obtain a working permit is 14.

Since I am 14, I asked a couple stores about a job. Nothing big, just helping in a back room or sweeping floors. They all gave the same answer: "No, an emergency might come up which a 14-year-old could not handle."

I ask you, what good is the law if no one knows about it?

I know a few friends who need money for different things, but don't have any way of getting it. Baby-sitting jobs are not that easy to come by, so what else is there?

I have talked about it with my friends, and we decided to write you to see if you have a solution to our problem.

Thank you for listening.

JUDY VICINI,
Plymouth

Dear Judy:

This is a particularly bad time in our economy to be looking for a job, and we can sympathize with you. One suggestion for youthful job-seekers in the Plymouth area is to contact Youth Incorporated, 271 S. Main, Plymouth, from 2:30-9:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Ask to speak to Scott Levely, assistant director, about employment. Steve Dreus, another assistant director, said they're having a tough time finding jobs right now too, but there are a few part-time jobs available.

Teens in other cities should contact:
• Garden City schools: Garden City School District Youth Employment Plan, 1333 Radcliff, 14:30-4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

• Livonia schools: Livonia Youth Employment, 15401 Farmington Road, Livonia, 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

• Redford schools: Youth Commission Job Placement Service, 14400 Beech Daly, 8 a.m.-4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

• Wayne-Westland schools: Youth Employment Service of Wayne-Westland Schools, 3712 Williams, Wayne, 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

ERA needed

Editor:

A July 3 letter to the Observer & Eccentric praised legislation won for women by the women's movement. The people who worked for and passed these laws are the same people who actively support the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA).

They realize that a constitutional guarantee is necessary to prevent these laws from being watered down or, worse yet, abolished by some future Congress.

There are still many areas of discrimination against women. Discrimination exists in insurance coverage, pension plans and taxes. Social Security laws discriminate against both sexes. Without the ERA, it will take many years, if ever, to end this discrimination.

ACTION IN the Livonia 11-14 year-old girls' fastball league gets as heavy as in any boys' league. Here Adray Green's Desiree Gade slams Adray Athletic catcher Marjie Strom in a play at the plate. The ball squirms loose (right) and Miss Gade is safe. The league plays Saturday afternoons at Ford Field. (Staff photos by Art Emanuel)

It's new ball game in girls' hardball league

By TOM SCHRAM
Sports Editor

The ball doesn't come in very fast and the catcher often misses it completely. The fielding is shaky and the base running far from refined.

But Livonia's girls instructional baseball league is the real thing.

For years girls have been restricted to recreational softball as a means of perfecting skills in the national pastime but those days are ending fast.

First Southfield and now Livonia have opened the doors for girls to play with the same kinds of balls and bats used at Tiger Stadium.

"WE INITIATED THE PROGRAM in response to demands from the community and frankly I'm quite pleased with the results," said Ron Reinke, assistant parks and recreation director.

Currently there are 12 girls fastpitch hardball teams in Livonia.

eight in the 11-14 year age bracket and four in the 8-11 age group.

The teams play on Saturday afternoon, primarily at Ford Field in Livonia, and from all indications, everyone is pleased with the results.

Although the league is technically designated a fastpitch league, no one is going to take away a job from Nolan Ryan. The action is nevertheless frequently hot and heavy as the girls play spiritedly, but not roughly.

"THE ONLY FIGHTS I've seen are from the bench," said manager of the Adray Green team, Doug Savage.

Savage said the biggest problem he had as a coach involved finding a pitcher who could exhibit control consistently.

"We had everyone try out for the position until we found a good pitcher," he said.

There is currently an average of 18 girls on each team and the rules have been modified to shorten the bases, eliminate stealing and bring in the pitcher's mound.

According to league dictate, each girl on every team must play a minimum of three innings. No standings are kept and a time limit is placed on the game.

"We need the time limit because some games would never end," said Jerry Miller, a coach for the Athletics in the 11-14 bracket. "Still, we usually manage to get in five or six innings in the hour and forty-five minutes we have to play."

The Parks and Recreation Department supplies umpires for the game and all jerseys for the teams were donated by Adray Appliance of Dearborn.

"I think this is a great sport for girls. It teaches them the fundamentals of the game and girls like to compete among themselves," Miller said.

Miller said his biggest coaching chore involved teaching proper batting techniques.

"I found early in the year that a lot of the girls weren't taking a full cut. Now most of them are swinging pretty well," he said.

MILLER SAID THAT he had seen no incidents of undue roughness and that he had experienced no injuries other than the usual minor things connected with the game. Miller indicated that he had seen good parental interest throughout the league with up to five fathers assisting on the Athletics.

While the exact nature of the league's future remains in question, the fact that the league will continue seems to be assured. This is in spite of the fact that, according to Reinke, several women's physical education teachers advised against girls playing hardball prior to the league's formation this year in meetings with the department.

"We're committed to the league and I see no reason why it should not be continued as long as there is sufficient community interest," Reinke said.

Reinke said there was some question as to whether the league would become competitive or stay instructional.

"I, personally, would like to keep it instructional. I was out to a game this year and the girls seemed to be having a really good time. That's the whole purpose," he said.

Hitting slump comes to end, Berry Red explodes, 16-4

Berry Red, which has been plagued with hitting problems all season, broke out of its slump with a passion Saturday, slashing 12 hits, picking up nine walks and capitalizing on five errors to demolish Berry Blue 16-4 in the biggest offensive uprising of the season.

"It's tremendous to see this happen. We've been getting good hitting out of the middle of our lineup all year but everyone is looking good right now," said Red coach Roger Frayer.

On top of the list of the Red wrecking crew were Dennis Slater and Ron Griffin.

Griffin had a pair of triples in three official trips for four RBIs and Slater also went two-for-three with four runs-batted-in.

The game was over very quickly for Blue which went in leading its division. Red scored nine times in the first inning and added six in the second to remove all doubt.

Mark Galasso started things in the first with a double off starter and loser Al Casterdale. B.J. Lajoie followed with a single and Red was on the board.

Griffin then hit the first of his two triples to knock in Lajoie and he scored when Slater followed with a single.

Curt Pitcher then walked and Dale Slater followed with an RBI single. Matt Foster walked to load the bases before Blue got the first out of the inning when John Collie bounced out, shortstop to catcher, for a force.

After Bill Bardwell followed with an RBI single, Blue manager Ron Hellier decided that Casterdale had suffered long enough and replaced him with Mike Flood after the starter had gone only one third of an inning.

Flood started by walking Galasso, who was subsequently picked off by the Blue catcher. But Lajoie also walked to again load the bases and Griffin followed with his second triple of the inning to bring in three more runs.

Dennis Slater then bounced out to the shortstop to bring a halt to the marathon inning.

Blue pushed across two runs in its half of the first, but Red went right back at 'em in the second.

Curt Pitcher and Dale Slater were both safe on Blue errors to start things. Matt Foster then doubled in one run.

It looked as if Blue might get out of things when Flood then struck out Collie and Bardwell, but Lajoie was safe on an error scoring a run and Griffin walked to load the bases.

Dennis Slater then hit a resounding blast to deep left field.

The ball, which appeared to Slater to be a home run, bounced off the power box in left at Ford Field and Slater, who had been trotting around the bases, was thrown out at third.

Three runs scored on the play, however, and Red had a 15-2 lead after one and one-half innings.

Frayer pointed out that much of the credit for the win belongs to winning pitcher Bardwell who limited Blue to five hits. Bardwell has been pitching well all summer without much support and the outburst was a welcome relief.

"Bill's had a super summer. He deserved to get an easy game," said Frayer.

Frayer said that Griffin, who batted .380 during the spring for Churchill High School, was in the midst of an experiment in which he has been switch hitting. Although Griffin batted right-handed exclusively during the high school season, his two triples against Blue came from the left side of the plate.

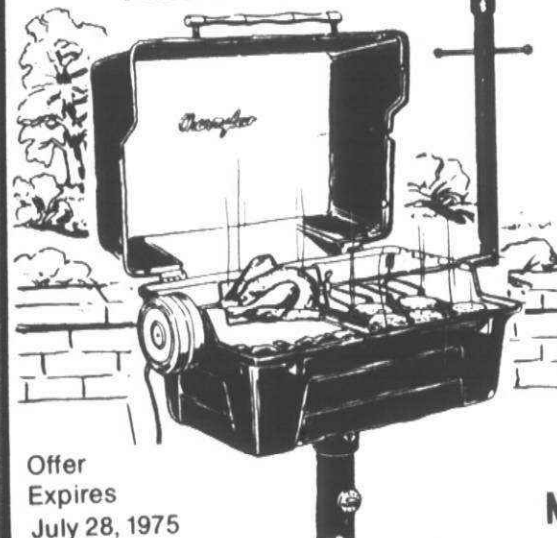

DENNIS SLATER AND RON GRIFFIN provided the big guns for Berry Red in a 16-4 pasting of Berry Blue Saturday. Each went two-for-three and drove in four runs. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

Westland legion extends streak

By JIM BRADLEY

It literally took the shirt off the coach's back to give Westland's American Legion team a 5-5 tie with Lincoln Park last week and continue its seven-game unbeaten streak in the 16th District League.

Westland All Star Sport Shop also walloped Grosse Ile 11-2 on Monday, but it was the Lincoln Park contest that provided one of the most amusing and unusual finishes of the year.

Bob Vojtkofsky was the center of all the bizarre happenings.

First, the Westland third baseman hit a drive more than 400 feet into right field with Ron Reid on base and fired the bases for an apparent home run. But the visitors appealed the play, saying the ball got lost in the tall grass. The umpires agreed and sent Vojtkofsky back to second base and he was later cut down at the plate attempting to score on a wild pitch.

Had the home run counted, Westland would have won 5-4 because Lincoln Park didn't score in the seventh. In fact, neither did Westland but both scored one in the eighth before darkness halted the game.

However, that was only one part of the unusual proceedings.

In the seventh inning, Vojtkofsky was spiked severely on the foot and should have left the game. But Westland had only nine players and he continued at third. With Lincoln Park runners on first and second, Vojtkofsky handled a bounce and bunny-hopped over and touched third.

Lincoln Park, however, scored once and took a 5-4 lead into the bottom of the eighth inning. Ron Reid opened the frame for Westland with a solid double and Vojtkofsky "bounced" into the batter's box.

With the visitors planning to walk him intentionally, Bob, a left-handed batter, reached out and pulled the second pitch into right field for a single and Reid raced home with the tying run.

Vojtkofsky literally hopped to first base on the throw home. Jack McCaffrey, Westland's regular shortstop, then arrived at the game with a cast on his injured right wrist. It was here that Coach Steve Swartz gave the non-uniformed McCaffrey his baseball shirt and spikes so McCaffrey could run for Vojtkofsky.

However, McCaffrey's mates couldn't get him past third and the game was called because of darkness.

Westland had better success against Grosse Ile, banging out nine hits and scoring six times in the third inning and four more in the fifth to rout the hapless visitors. Reid, who had banded two hits against Lincoln Park, collected two more against Grosse Ile, as did centerfielder Mike Melcher.

Gary Clark scattered five hits, struck out six and walked only one in gaining the win.

The win and tie ran All Star Sport Shop's record to seven straight games without a loss. Injuries and jobs have robbed Westland of players and the team has had to forfeit a few times.

However, of the 18 games played by Sport Shop, it has won eight, lost seven and tied three. In the second half of the season, the Don Wright-managed squad has won four, lost none and tied two.

Prior to the Lincoln Park affair, Westland swept by Riverview, 3-0, and Great Lakes, 2-1, on two fine pitching efforts by Bob Zarb, a strong-armed righthander out of Dearborn Sacred Heart. They went eight innings before edging Trenton, 3-2, as a trio of hurlers gave Westland a good performance.

Zarb stopped Great Lakes on just four hits and Gary Clark gave him solid hitting support in the win. Zarb, who also has been socking the ball at a healthy clip, helped his own cause with two hits and blanked Riverview, 3-0, on just two hits.

John Uetz, Jack McCaffrey and Gary Clark silenced Trenton's bats in wrestling the 3-2 victory. Clark threw only five pitches to notch the victory when his mates scored in the bottom of the eighth inning to win.

In the American Legion All-Star game played at Wyandotte, Westland put four performers on the Nationals, a 5-0 winner over the Americans.

McCaffrey handled five chances at short in the last four innings without a miscue. Vojtkofsky played the first four innings at third and batted one-for-two. Mike Melcher played centerfield and Don Canfield pitched the last inning, fanning two of three he faced.

Westland open tourney draws 176 netters

By BILL COLLINS

One hundred seventy-six tennis enthusiasts from throughout the metropolitan Detroit area converged on the Multi-Purpose Arena in Westland last weekend for the city's annual open tennis tournament sponsored by the Westland Department of Parks and Recreation.

Players competed in 10 categories for trophies in the event.

Todd Beyer of Westland captured the boys' 14 and under bracket by defeating Mike McClure of Belleville in the finals, 6-3, 7-5.

The boys' 15-18 division was dominated by Garden City's Rick Gwidz. Gwidz whipped Dave Peterson in the finals, 6-0, 6-1.

"Dave hit his serves right at me, so most of my net volleys were just put-away shots," he said.

Gwidz played for Garden City West High School during the spring and was 17-1 in singles action there. The 17-year-old has one year left as a prep where he has already established himself as one of the top area competitors.

Among the 22 entries in the boys' double field were Dave Cook and Ralph Cabildo, both of Westland.

The 16-year-old pair took the finals of their event, 6-4, 6-3.

Only two girls entered the 14 and under age bracket in that division and in that match for the championship,

Diane Gilroy of Westland downed Serri Moss, 6-0, 6-2.

"I put a lot of slice on my serve and I moved around the court well. Those were the key things," said Miss Gilroy.

In the women's singles, Livonia's Kathy Ladd won an opening set tie breaker and went on to take the final match, 7-6, 6-1 over Barb Reinke of Northville.

Ladd said that the tie breaker was the critical point in the match.

"It's a big lift when you win the tie breaker. It discourages your opponent and it gives you a psychological lift for the next set," she said.

Women's doubles action saw Plymouth's Fran Denwitz and Jean Garbus of Westland beat Barb Reinke and Barb Boyle in the finals, 6-3, 6-0. The victorious pair have been playing together for only one year.

Men's singles was the biggest field of the tournament and in that division, Jim Robberstadt of Detroit breezed to the championship over 33 entrants.

In the finals, he defeated Roger Brant of Dearborn Heights, 6-1, 6-0.

In men's doubles competition, the team of Plymouth's Gary Nuestad and Rod Schafer of Garden City dumped the Westland duo of James Steffen and Pete Olack, 6-1, 6-1.

In mixed double play, Fred and Yvonne Schmidt of Livonia downed Paul Adams and Sue Morrison in the finals, 6-3, 6-3.

Michigan horse owners do not have to take a back seat to anyone when it comes to breeding or buying the finest thing in pacers and trotters.

Folks around the Wolverine state know as much about harness racing horse flesh as any colony of horsemen anywhere, and their perspicacity was brought into focus again this past Saturday night at Wolverine Raceway during an early shower of sub-2-minute racing miles.

Over a track that had produced exactly 99 of the sport's so-called "magic miles" since its conversion to a full mile oval in 1970, four more pacers hit the coveted time target. And three of the swift sidewheelers are owned by Michigan residents.

The figure is particularly impressive when one considers that Hazel Park and Wolverine, with their new back-to-back schedule, have attracted many new stables this year from all over the United States and Canada.

Banner Ranger, an 8-year-old pacer owned by Ralph and Paul Spadafora of Pontiac, started the speed parade Saturday by hitting the wire in 1:59.1 for driver Chris Boring. Three races later, with Boring again in the sulky, Apropos carved a 1:59 mile for owner Katherine Easton of Wayne, Mich.

THEN CAME THE FEATURE event, a $12,500 Invitational which showcased some of the finest free-for-alls in the Wolverine barn area. Roaring home the winner in 1:58.4 was the 5-year-old horse Bench Mark, owned, trained and driven by Gerry Bookmyer of Clinton, Mich.

The only out-of-stater in the sub-2-minute scene that night was Swings Lady, handled by Greg Wright in 1:59 for owner Howard A. Snyder of Canfield, O.

Trainer-driver Boring, himself, is a healthy reflection of Michigan's impact in the sport of harness racing. One of the No. 1 citizens of Adrian, Mich., the 34-year-old Boring has produced more sheer speed at Detroit-area tracks during the past two years than any other sulkyman. His record speaks for itself.

Including the performances of Banner Ranger and Apropos on the track's first Saturday night of the 1975 season, pacers handled by Boring have turned in five of Wolverine's last ten 2-minute miles, spanning last season and this one.

What's more, Chris did it with five different horses. During the last month of Wolverine's 1974 meeting Boring reached the charmed circle with Malcolm J (1:59.4), with The Great Byrd (1:59.1) and with Armbryst Mystic (1:59.4). A month earlier with Armbryst Mystic his 1:58 had gone into the Wolverine record book alongside Knox Patch as the best time ever produced at the track by an aged horse.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

There is a great deal of difference between the price of bowling and the cost of bowling in the leagues around the area. Many newcomers are going to find that out with the start of the new season.

From time to time there is violent criticism that the cost of bowling is too high. In many cases the bowlers are on the verge of quitting. What they don't realize is that the high cost of bowling has been brought on by themselves—and not by the owner of the establishment.

In many cases this coming season, the top leagues have voted to boost the prize fund—in one instance as high as $4,500 for a junior house league. To make this possible the bowlers are asked to pay $6.50 each night of league bowling.

What is overlooked is that the price of league bowling is still at the old rate of 80 cents per line. This means that of the $6.50 paid by the bowler the proprietor gets only $2.40.

With this breakdown, it is readily seen that the bowler is paying more than $4 each week in the prize fund. This is to take care of individual performances along with the top prizes for the final standings.

So, when the bowler complains that the cost of bowling is too high, what he really means is that it isn't the price—80 cents per line—that is too high but the prize funds which are getting out of hand.

The present plight in bowling is no different than in other sports where the competitors are looking for more money. Only in this case, the bowlers really don't have a kick coming. They voted the high prize funds—and they have to contribute these new record figures.

There was a time, and not too long ago, when the top prize in the league was $500. Now the average is $2,500, with many going to $3,000 and some as high as $3,500.

THERE WAS ONLY one change in the standings in the Best Ball tournament at Merri-Bowl during the past week.

Dell Marano and Barbara Taft, both of Livonia, moved into fourth place with 820. The leaders continue to be Chuck Evans and Kathy Holly of Detroit with 841.

YOUTH BOWLING in the area was given quite a boost when Michelle Beres of St. Clair Shores won the girls open division of the regional qualifying round of the All-America Youth event at Satellite Bowl.

A member of the Cecil Ward Classic, she paced the field of eight girls in the open division and now will be headed for the national championships at St. Louis next month.

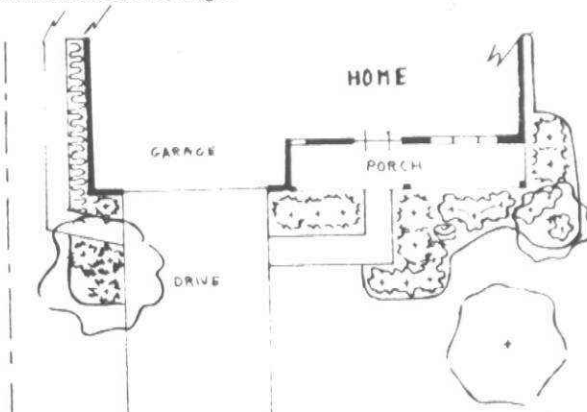

She will have an incentive to go well there as it was a girl from Grand Rapids, Kit Konkle, who won the first event held in Washington, D.C. in 1961.

Earl Hedge: a man who loves his job

By ELINOR GRAHAM

A drive down Sheldon Road past two elementary schools can give rise to the suspicion, the Plymouth school board must be playing favorites.

There is Bird School with a few tired cannas planted behind the the school sign. And there is Gallimore, ablaze with flower beds and hanging baskets.

A stop at Gallimore to find out who was responsible for this discrimination disclosed the school board was not the culprit.

The person responsible for Gallimore's splendor, Earl Hedge, just happened to be at the school. Although officially on vacation, he had stopped in to check out his flowers. His helpers soon pointed him out as the man with the green thumb.

HEDGE WAS dissatisfied with the appearance of the grounds. A water-main had been laid under the front lawn and he hadn't been able to get it back in shape.

He admitted his new privet hedge was thriving and the flower beds were doing well. The hanging baskets on the school sign were flourishing.

"You know people are pretty nice," he said. "When I put these baskets out here some of the parents said they would be stolen. I said if they took them I'd replace them. Well, we haven't lost one."

After nine years at Gallimore, he has a proprietary feeling for the school, its students and teachers.

"COME ON INSIDE," he invited. "We have a dandy librarian here. She likes flowers too."

He pointed out the rows of brackets for hanging pots between library windows. Kathy Schmitt, the librarian, had cooperated in his plant project. Last fall he started assembling pots of plants to be sold at the school fair. Sales netted $298 which was used to buy flats of seedlings to be set out in the spring.

Hedge admitted he had added some of his own money toward the purchase of bedding plants.

"Those 500 fifth graders who graduated this year were a great bunch," he said. "I hated to see every one of them leave."

Summer-empty classrooms had houseplants on the windowsills. They were planted in a wide variety of containers—an old coffee percolator, and even a riding boot.

Hanging baskets with trailing vines were arranged on either side of a nook in the main hallway. A birdcage hung in the nook.

"THIS IS WHERE the kids line up for lunch. They used to push each other around and be real noisy until I put GJ here in the cage."

GJ was an albino parakeet which had entertained the children with his antics and responded to their greetings.

"They were much better behaved after I put GJ there," he sighed. "And he died two weeks ago. He died of loneliness; he missed those kids."

"I'll get another one for them before school starts," promised this the custodian of Gallimore's building, gardens and children.

A new face being born

IN THE CONTINUOUS effort to make the Mayflower Hotel more attractive to the eye, owner Ralph Lorenz has supervised the completion of the facade on the Main Street side.

"You won't know the place when we finish the upper sections with special window designs. Here is the facade in the finishing stages." (Staff photo)

OTTO G. HINZMANN Jr. of Plymouth has been promoted to second vice-president and investment officer at Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit. He joined the bank in 1967 and was promoted to trust officer in 1972. Hinzmann is a graduate of Wayne State University.

History workshop may be scheduled

A five-week workshop, designed to discuss techniques of producing oral histories for bicentennial projects, may be held in September, if 10 or more community residents express interest in attending the workshop.

The workshop is tentatively scheduled to begin in Plymouth's Dunning Hough Library in mid-September with five two-hour sessions scheduled for each Thursday afternoon. The cost will be $18.75 per person.

Patricia Pilling, instructor at Wayne State University's College of Life-Long Learning, will head the workshop. Library staff members and students at the Centennial Educational Park, who are producing an oral history of the Plymouth-Canton community this summer, will attend.

Groups or individuals interested in attending the workshop should call Beth Simescu or Pat Thomas at the Dunning Hough Library.

On dean's list

Sandra A. Messmore, daughter of Mrs. Helen L. Messmore of 1222 Junction, Plymouth, has been named to the dean's list at Hiram College, Hiram, Ohio.

This honor is reserved for students who have attained a cumulative average of 3.5 or better by the end of the second quarter of their sophomore year, provided they have earned at least 20 hours of credit at Hiram.

The Stroller Psychology works

On a leisurely auto ride outstate not long ago The Stroller stopped at one of the widely advertised road houses featuring Sunday dinners.

It wasn't surprising that he had to stand in line for quite a time before being seated. But the big surprise came after the smiling hostess escorted him to a table.

It came when he noticed that all of the waitresses were wearing long silk ribbons on their blouses, bearing the word "student" or "trainee."

The Stroller just couldn't believe that an old establishment such as this one would have nothing but inexperienced help on a big day.

His curiosity grew when the waitress assigned to his table was more than a few semesters beyond being a teenager.

"What's the idea of the ribbon?" The Stroller asked.

"It's the boss's idea," she answered. "He calls it psychology."

Psychology? "Yes, he figures that if any of us have an accident and drop food or drink on a customer, they won't get mad. They'll feel sorry for us because we are just supposed to be learning the job."

Well, The Stroller has been around for quite a time, but that was a new one on him and both he and the waitress smiled when she added: "We've had very few customers getting mad. So, it works."

IT WAS THE STRANGEST use of psychology The Stroller had seen since his doctor had talked him into a program of weight reduction some years ago.

When the doctor first mentioned it The Stroller commented: "No diet for me—or the counting of calories."

"I'm not talking about diets or calories," the good doctor replied. "I don't like either of those words and I don't use them."

Then he gave me the first quick dose of psychology.

"We're going on a program of reshaping your body," he said, "and you can eat all you want—with reservations."

He explained he had only three rules. They were very simple. The first was "don't eat potatoes."

"If there was a tube on the table marked poison," the doctor said, "I don't think you'd taste it just to make sure. Well, starting now potatoes are to be treated as poison."

What a bit of psychology.

"Next, I'll have all the bakers in the country mad at me, but I don't want you to eat anything made with flour."

And third, limit your liquid intake to about six six-ounce glasses daily. That should do it at the rate of about a pound a week."

Notice, he never mentioned diet or calories. And it worked as The Stroller lost 70 pounds in little more than 18 months.

That's psychology at its best.

YEARS AGO there was another case that comes to mind. It concerned a salesman who specialized in sporting goods and was making his annual stop to see the authorities at the University of Detroit, hopeful of getting the order for the fall and winter season.

The coaches were busy when he arrived. So he sat with the sports writers to chat a bit and relieve himself of a tale of woe.

"I wish you fellows would help me," he said, "things have been going kind of bad for me. I've had a terrible summer and I need this order more than ever before. Please see what you can do for me."

The sports writers listened. Then one of them spoke up.

"You'll never get the order if you come out here crying and begging for it. The coaches have no sympathy when it comes to buying equipment."

"What else can I do?" the salesman asked. "I need the order and am willing to beg for it."

"Use a little psychology on the coach," the writer said. "He uses it on the players all season. Try a little on him."

"Don't try to sell him. Instead, walk in with a smile and offer him the opportunity to buy from you."

Would you believe it, it worked. The salesman got a larger order than usual.

Psychology is a wonderful thing.

Students play SC music finale

A series of student concerts today (Thursday) and July 25 will mark the close of Schoolcraft College's 1975 Summer Music School.

Those performing will be selected by the faculty from the summer school student body and will represent the best performances from the month-long school.

On July 24, six students of Donald Morelock will present a recital for solo, piano duet and two pianos in Waterman Campus Center.

On Friday, July 25, the school orchestra will play in Waterman Center. Performing will be violinist Melissa Pierson of Livonia, winner of the student concerto audition, and flutists Marian Craig of Livonia, first-runner-up. Miss Pierson will play the first movement of concerto in B minor for violin and orchestra by Camille Saint-Saens. Miss Craig will perform the "Night Soliloquy for Flute and Strings" by Kent Kennan. The orchestra, conducted by Richard Saunders, director of the summer music program, will play works by Franck, Enesco and Wagner.

All concerts begin at 8:30 p.m. and are free.

State Fair offers contests, workshops

The 1975 Michigan State Fair plans a full schedule of contests and craft workshops during its 11-day run Aug. 22 through Sept. 1 at the fairgrounds, Eight Mile Road and Woodward Avenue, Detroit.

The fair is looking for that prize-winning squash, mouth-watering cake, eye-catching painting or grand champion market animal.

There are more than 100 categories for competition including livestock, agriculture, and floriculture.

Deadline for entries is Aug. 1 with the exception of the horse show which is Friday, July 25. Detailed information on fees and entry requirements is available by writing Michigan State Fair, Detroit, 48023.

A separate division for youths eight through 18 includes livestock, gardening, educational exhibits, homemaking, business and office displays. The highlight of the youth competition is the junior livestock auction, Tuesday, Aug. 26 at 1:30 p.m. when all grand and reserved champion market animals go on the auction block.

In the community arts division, fairgoers can participate in a series of "Make-it and Take-it" craft seminars. "This is a new program for the community arts division," says Marie Harding, division director. "It is designed to give visitors a learning experience and make them feel involved in activities at the fair."

"In the past, visitors could only watch craft demonstrations. Now they will have a chance to take home what they make."

Craft workshops are:

- Friday, Aug. 22-pottery.
- Saturday, Aug. 23-Pysanky-Ukrainian egg decorating.
- Sunday, Aug. 24-fun with paints.
- Monday, Aug. 25-quilting.
- Tuesday, Aug. 26-Needlepoint-Irish lace.
- Wednesday Aug. 27-Know your size seminar.
- Thursday, Aug. 28-Bobbin lace.
- Friday, Aug. 29-punch rugs.
- Saturday, Aug. 30-dried flower arrangements
- Sunday, Aug. 31-cake decorating.

Details of workshops, application forms and fees may be obtained by writing Community Arts Department, Michigan State Fair, Detroit, 48023.

Crafts center recalls past

A dozen craftsmen working with tools and techniques common in the United States from settlement times to the 1840s are featured in Greenfield Village's new crafts center.

In a two square block area near the village green, craftsmen introduce visitors to many of the long-forgotten ways Americans made their living and provided the basic necessities of life before the industrial revolution.

With hands guided by generation of experience, the skilled artisans demonstrate to visitors their techniques and discuss the fine points of their trades.

Starting as a shapeless mass, pewter is shaped into candlesticks. Strands of handcarded and spun wool become a medley of color and design on the weaver's loom. Strips of leather are transformed into smart looking belts. Finished brooms sprout from the broom makers aged machine. Wood carvings surround the cooper's schnitzelbank as he shaves the staves for barrels and kegs.

The exotic scent of spices and herbs in Dr. Howard's office mingles with an aroma coming from the village bakery. The silversmith can be heard tapping his hall-mark in fine metals while nearby the clanging anvil of the blacksmith is hard at work.

There is no additional charge for the crafts center beyond regular village admission of $2.75 for adults and $1.25 for children six through 12. Children under six are admitted free.

Craft items and tintypes are on sale. All income from admission and sales goes toward supporting educational programs at Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum.

'Butterflies' in C'ville

The Clarenceville Summer Theater Players will present "Butterflies are Free," By Leonard Gershe July 25 and 26 at 8 p.m. in Clarenceville High School Auditorium, 20155 Middle Belt Road, Livonia.

Tickets are $1.50 and available at the door. The play is directed by Bob Gregory, drama teacher at Clarenceville High School.

Cast includes Manny Schare, Carolyn Grant, Bruce Davidson and Karen Weinberg in leading roles.

Others helping on props, sound, lighting and publicity are John Schmidt, Barb Redford, Schare, Miss Grant, Carrie Hinson, Pat McLaughlin, Jim McCarthy and Mike McCarthy. Also responsible for the production are Lance Gotko and Miss Weinberg.

The summer theater is a four-week workshop which teaches the technical aspects of theater production.

When a house is an opportunity

By MARGARET MILLER

Plymouth Opportunity House is the name of the handsome new redwood structure you can see as you pass the corner of Wing and Deer streets in the center of town.

And the "opportunity" part applies to a lot of people besides the 16 retarded citizens who have been chosen to live there.

For them, of course, it means an opportunity never before possible in this area—a congenial place to live, on their own but supervised, while they hold jobs and take their place in society.

For Hazel Hutchman, the warm and outgoing housemother who speaks with a beautiful Irish brogue and already is friend and confidante to the first arrivals at the new residence, it's the opportunity to pursue a couple of favorite occupations—working with people, and keeping house.

For members of the Community Opportunity Centers organization and the Northwest Communities Association for Retarded Citizens, the word means one dream come true and the chance to move on to establish more such centers.

And for the people who live in Redford Township, Livonia, Garden City and Northville, it's another kind of opportunity—the chance to see in operation the kind of home that could benefit residents of their own communities.

PLYMOUTH OPPORTUNITY

HAZEL HUTCHMAN is an understanding housemother.

House is the first of five projected for this area by the COC planning group. Its set-up, and that of similar homes still over the horizon, involves a home for retarded persons who hold jobs or are in sheltered workshops and can benefit from a community living situation.

Houseparent supervisors are part of the picture, and the residents not only pay their share of the home upkeep but also become tax-paying members of the community.

Another such home already is in the planning stages for Redford Township, where the township board has given rezoning approval for property at the corner of Beech-Daly and Six Mile, and members of COC are thinking of the next move—to provide similar housing in the other three communities its scope covers.

"Getting the home in Plymouth was the hardest part of our job," said COC president Jan Plas of Livonia, and his comment is echoed almost word for word by Mary Childs of Plymouth, who has been deep in the project as a member of the Plymouth Planning Commission and the board that chose the new residents.

The two are sure that establishment of the centers will be easier the rest of the way.

BEFORE ANYONE moved into the spacious Plymouth home, COC directors held open house for new residents and their families.

Everyone came to meet Mrs. Hutchman, her husband, Tom, who works as a printer and shares with her the responsibility for the residents, and Jeanne Murray, the social worker who will be responsible for work days and volunteer assistance.

And adding an extra festive note to the beautiful rooms, furnished through contributions of many interested groups, were a couple of bouquets brought by neighbors who had picked flowers from their own gardens.

"They said they thought we should have them for our big day," recalled Mrs. Childs, adding that the gift made her especially happy because it meant that earlier resistance to establishing the home in the neighborhood was being overcome.

Mrs. Hutchman and others closely connected with the home already have met with residents of the Redford neighborhood where the next home for retarded citizens is projected.

"I want them to know my husband and I consider this a fine place to live with our two little boys," she said. "The residents here are so nice with them, and so friendly."

PLYMOUTH OPPORTUNITY House is buzzing with activity these days, although it will still be some weeks before there is a full compliment of residents.

The gradual moving-in was planned with an eye to facilitating adjustment to the new living situation, Plas said.

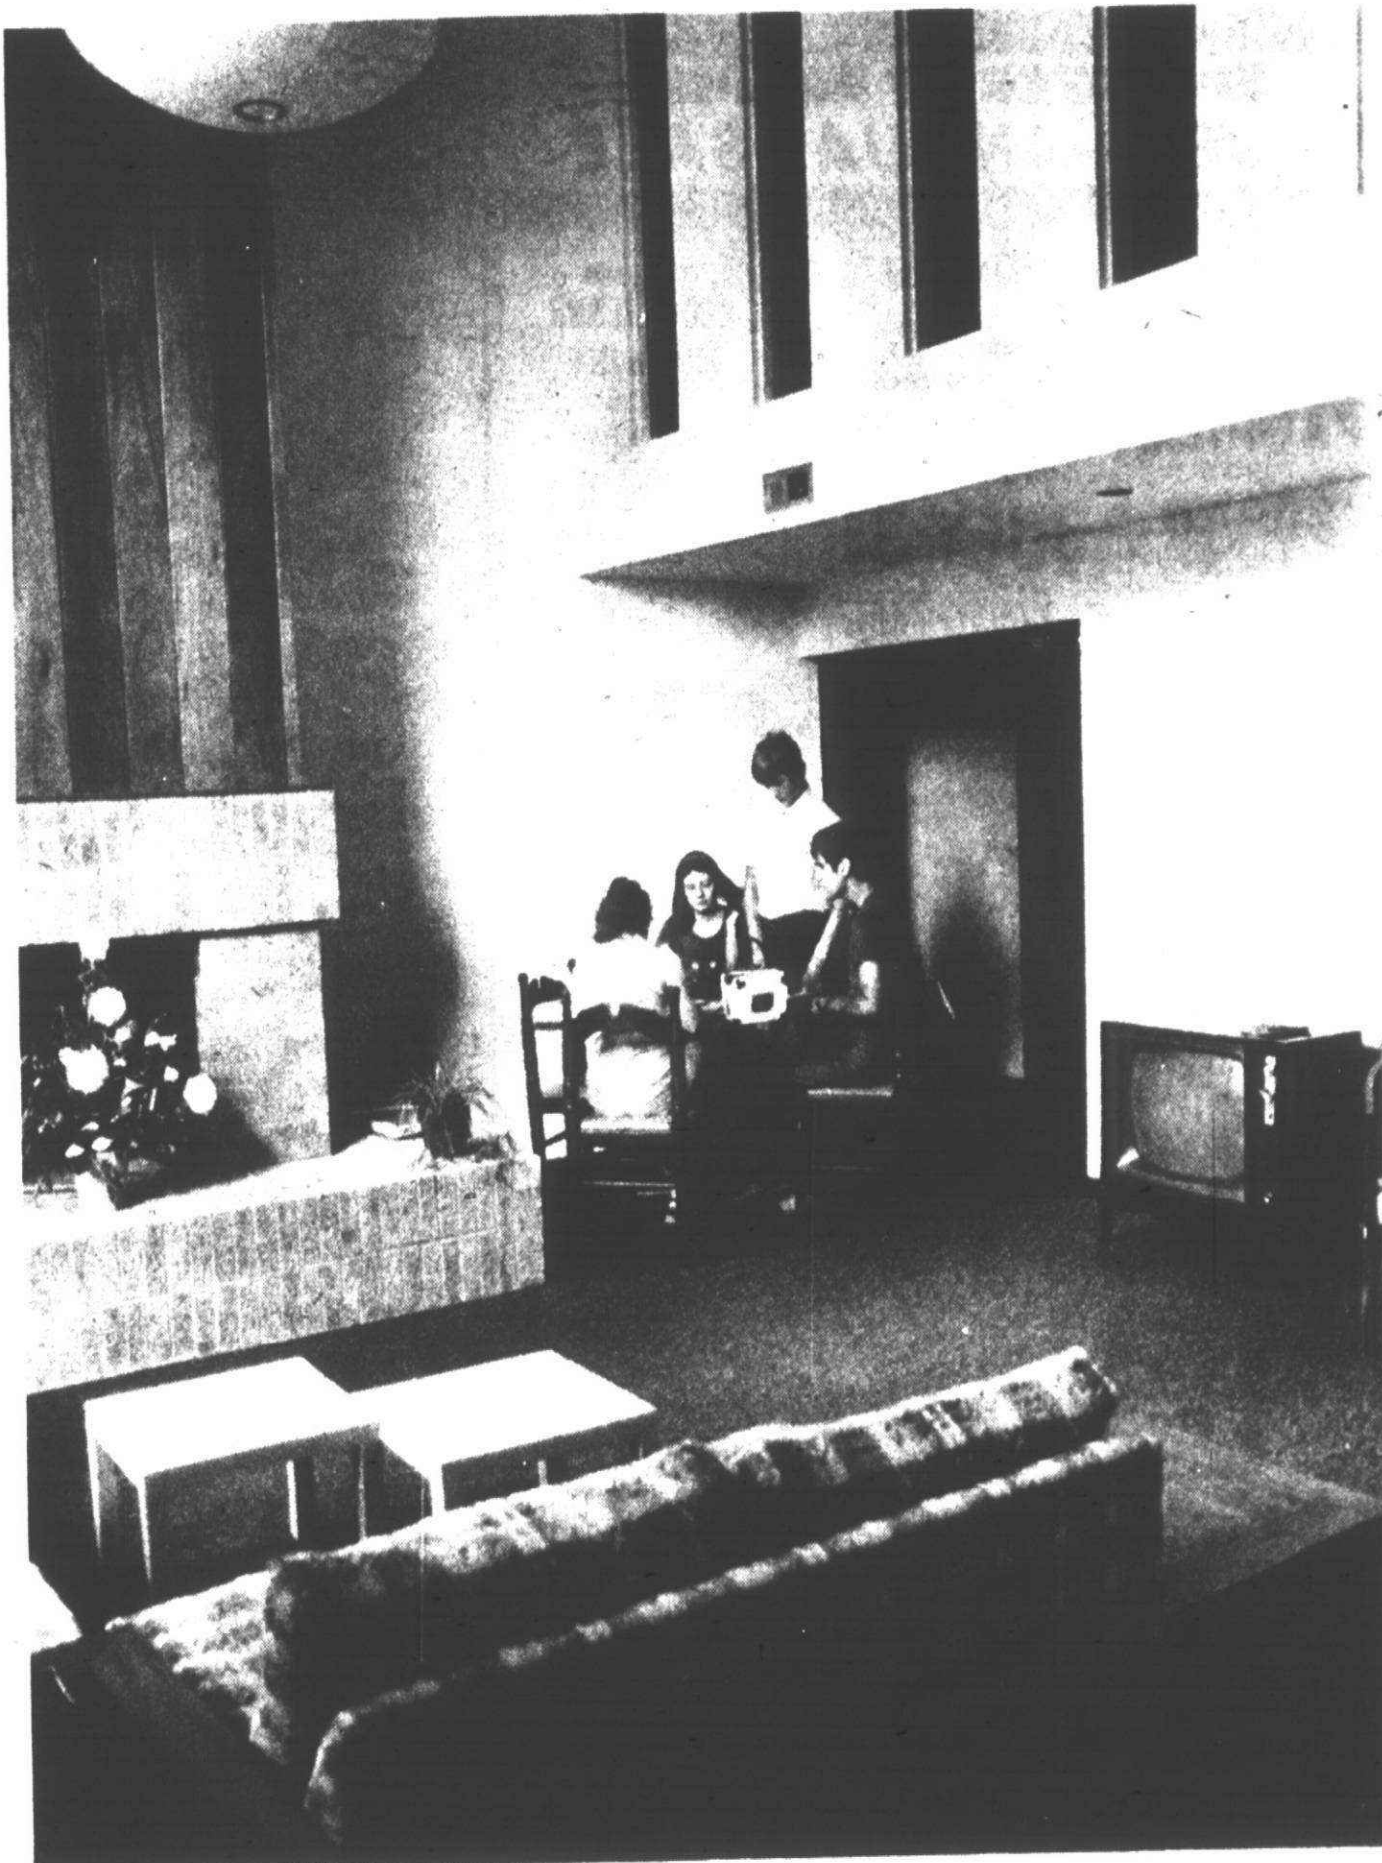

But now you find one young woman, Debbie, tending plants in a pleasant bedroom she'll later share with a roommate, or joining in a game in the homey activities room, or learning how to handle the laundry equipment with Mrs. Connie Guy, the housekeeper who has been employed to keep up cleaning and washing.

Out in the garden, is Carl, tending the tomato plants and flowers. He's learning about this chore as a student at the Wayne County Skills Center, now situated in the Stark school in Livonia.

Mrs. Hutchman, who does most of the cooking, gets an assist from Wilma. "Her specialty is cheese sandwiches, and she made them one day when we were going on a picnic and wanted a light supper," the housemother said. "She also can make good salmon loaf."

IN A CHEERY office you find Jeanne Murray, busy talking to residents to determine their capabilities and working to line up jobs for them.

Some will stay for a time in the training programs at the Skills Center; others will continue in sheltered workshops. "But work here in this community for as many as possible is our aim," Ms. Murray said.

ROOMY YET COZY, this activities room already is a favorite gathering place in Plymouth

Opportunity House. (Staff photos by Bob Woodring)

A few volunteers have stopped in to meet the early arrivals and join in a board game or two, Ms. Murray said, but more are invited to call her and offer services.

We'd especially like young people who might come in the evenings for socializing, or perhaps take some of our residents on errands like trips to the stores," Mrs. Hutchman said.

Outings already are part of life in Plymouth Opportunity House. A new bus has arrived, and it will be used both to transport residents to school and jobs and for recreational jaunts.

And Mrs. Hutchman has had a call from Plymouth Police Chief Tim Ford.

"He said he just wanted to tell me he wanted to come over soon to meet the people here, and to let us know he was there if we needed him or the other officers," she said.

HAZEL AND TOM Hutchman were described by Plas as "exactly the sort of people we wanted to take charge of this house."

"We liked their outlook on the program," he added. "They are the kind who have warmth for the handicapped and people in general."

That warmth is evident as Mrs. Hutchman mentions how much Debbie is in demand as a games partner, kids Carl about getting the bugs off the tomato plants, brags about Wilma's cooking and mentions with pride that Loretta, another resident, already has shed some weight in a calorie-counting program.

She also commends those already in residence about how well they keep their rooms but insists she isn't going to make a fetish of tidiness.

"I've held a regular job," she said, "and I know that when you come home it's important to be able to relax and be able to put your feet up."

But she will have dinner cleanup chores handled by residents taking turns, and she reports with some delight that her older son has served notice he wants to be on the dishes list.

The Hutchmans moved to Livonia from Northern Ireland 15 years ago, and Hazel worked in the Charles Brake home for the severely retarded until taking over the new job. The family has an apartment in the new facility.

THE NEW HOME, built with funds obtained through a loan from the Michigan Department of Social Services, seems to members of the Community Opportunity Center a happy first step.

"We're so excited because it's working—they're happy and so are the people in the neighborhood," was the way Mary Childs put it.

Then she explained why the COC is determined to continue with its program. "The mother of one of the residents we selected came to the open house," Mrs. Childs went on. "She's in her eighties; the daughter is over 40."

"And she told us that for the first time she'd be able to go to bed and not worry about her daughter because she knew at last she'd be well cared for."

"We want more families who have had a difficult burden for a long time to know that peace of mind."

JEANNE MURRAY, Opportunity House social worker, has a chat in her office with John, currently visiting in the home while his parents are away.

JEAN SIGMON (left) of the Plymouth Women's Club gets a cup of coffee poured by Wilma during a recent visit to Opportunity House. The Women's Club donated money to equip the kitchen.

CARL WORKS in the Opportunity House garden. He's learning more about caring for the vegetables and flowers through landscape classes in the Northwest Wayne Skills Center.

Newlyweds travel to Florida

After their recent wedding in the Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church in Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Herriman took a honeymoon trip to Florida.

Mrs. Herriman is the former Pamela Korte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Korte of Beck Road, Plymouth, and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Herriman of Weed Road, Plymouth. The Rev. Kenneth MacKinnon officiated at the wedding. The bride wore a gown of white, tiered lace and a veil trimmed with pearls and sequins. Her sister, Lori Korte of Plymouth, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Karen Korte, cousin of the bride, Patti Davis and Donna Kregoski, all of Plymouth. Rick Palmer of Plymouth served as best man. Groomsmen included the bridegroom's brother, David Herriman of Plymouth, Donald Korte, the bride's brother and Brian Carroll of Plymouth.

After the ceremony the couple greeted 225 guests in the Plymouth Cultural Center. Both are graduates of Plymouth Salem High School. The bride is employed by Top Inc. Insurance Co. and her husband is employed by a service station. They plan to live in Plymouth.

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS HERRIMAN (Pamela Korte)

Swanson-Pincumbe

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Swanson of Plymouth announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary, to Mark Pincumbe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pincumbe of Lansing. The bride-elect graduated from Plymouth High School in 1971 and from Michigan State University in June of this year. She will be employed in Minneapolis as an assistant buyer for Dayton's department store. Her fiancé will graduate from MSU in August and plans to earn his master's in chemical engineering at the University of Minnesota. A Dec. 27 wedding is planned.

Cookies send Scouts to camp

This summer 75 Girl Scouts, including 26 from the Wayne-Westland area and four from Plymouth, will go to camp with the help of scholarships provided by the profits from the annual Girl Scout cookie sale.

Other camp scholarships will go to 18 scouts from the Ann Arbor area, seven from western Washtenaw county, six from eastern Washtenaw County and five each from Livingston and southern Wayne counties.

In all, $2,500 will be spent to send the girls who need financial help to Camp Linden, the 430-acre Girl Scout Camp in Livingston County.

Each girl will spend two weeks at the camp learning how to swim, nail and back-pack, as well as studying nature and ecology.

Also attending Camp Linden will be 30 other girls whose camping fee will be paid for by the Community Camp Placement program supported by Washtenaw United Way.

Mrs. Jean Galan, president of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, called Girl Scout camp "a marvelous experience for any girl."

"We are so happy that our successful cookie sale made it possible for us to help meet the costs of camping for so many girls this year," she added.

Driscoll-Ratliff

Mr. and Mrs. Terrence G. Driscoll of Marc Trail, Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Kelly Anne, to Capt. Johnnie N. Ratliff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ratliff of Pikeville, Ky. The bride-elect is a 1973 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School and a student at Schoolcraft College. Her fiancé, a 1970 graduate of Moorehead State University in Kentucky, is a company commander in the U.S. Army military police training school at Fort McClellan, Ala. Their wedding date is Nov. 26, 1976.

MARY BYRNES, (second from right) president of the Plymouth Vivians, holds out a prize during a recent bingo session that members of the group sponsored for residents of West

Mary Byrnes will lead active year for Vivians

Mary Byrnes of Redford Township, new president of the Vivians of Plymouth, will lead an active year for the Elks auxiliary group that includes women of Plymouth, Livonia and Redford.

One of her first functions has been organizing and leading a program of regular monthly visits to the West Trail Nursing Home of Plymouth for bingo and other games.

Mrs. Byrnes took over the president's gavel from Kerry Patti of Plymouth as new officers of the unit were installed recently.

Serving with her next year will be Ethel Braalene of Livonia, vice president; Ruth Bankney of Livonia, recording secretary; Florence Wright of Livonia, corresponding secretary, and Donna Hooper of Livonia, treasurer.

Other officers are Corinne Keeler of Plymouth, chaplain, and Martha Raley of Plymouth, sergeant-at-arms. Members-at-large serving on the executive board are Mrs. Pattison, Jane Powell of Plymouth and Corrine Clark of Plymouth.

This Vivians unit placed first among Elks' auxiliaries in Michigan in the amount of money donated to crippled children last year. The group also made a recent donation of $1,000 to the Plymouth Township Rescue Squad.

New swim schedules set by YW

Registration will open Monday, July 28 for a new term of swimming classes for pre-schoolers and youth at the Northwest Branch YWCA, 25940 Grand River, Redford Township.

The term will begin Aug. 4, with eight lessons offered twice a week.

Recreational swim periods for all ages will be offered through Aug. 29.

Pre-school classes for 2½ to five-year-olds will be held Monday and Wednesday, or Tuesday and Thursday. Classes for six-year-olds through teens, in all skill levels, will also be held Monday and Wednesday, or Tuesday and Thursday.

YWCA membership for youth is $5 a year and the fee for the eight sessions is $12.

Recreational swims for men, women and children are scheduled Monday from noon to 1 p.m., 5-6 p.m. and 8:30-9:30 p.m. On Tuesday the open swims are from noon until 1 p.m. and 5-6 p.m.

Additional open swims are on Thursday from noon until 1 p.m., 5-6 p.m. and 8-9 p.m. and on Friday from 2:30-4 p.m.

LJC offers a full program

By HY SHENKMAN

It takes 10 men to start a minyan, a morning prayer group in the Jewish faith. Isadore Banks, a retired stockbroker, is looking for nine more to join him in the Livonia Jewish Congregation.

He's offered to supply transportation and phylacteries, the small, square leather boxes containing scripture passages and worn by men participating in such sessions. He would even serve free bagels and lox.

Still, it's hard to get a minyan, Banks says. "Sunday and Saturday there is no problem getting 10 Jewish men," he explained, "but during the week people have to go to work and retired men are not always conditioned to get out so they pray in their homes."

THE PROBLEM is a typical one for small Jewish congregations. But LJC, with Isadore Banks as president and Rabbi Martin Gordon as spiritual leader, has plenty more to offer to its 60-family membership.

"Activities we have galore," Banks said. "We have spaghetti dinners, all you can eat, and children are admitted for half price. They often eat more than adults, but let it be to their good health."

"And at Chanukah there are traditional potato pancakes, called latke, at a nominal price."

A fund-raising bingo game is run once a week with the help of an active youth group and sisterhood. The young people also have roller skating and table tennis parties and go on tours around the metropolitan area.

AND THERE'S a personal touch supplied by the president and Rachelle Banks, his wife of 43 years. She's a former concert pianist and teacher, so when members of the congregation celebrate birthdays or anniversaries they get a special kind of telephone call.

Isadore dials the phone and holds the receiver near the piano and the celebrants hear "Happy Birthday" or the "Anniversary Waltz" played on the piano by Rachelle.

"Most people become emotional," Banks said. "We can hear crying on the line. 'I can't talk, this baby is crying,' a woman once said."

Rachelle Banks also is one of five LJC telephone squad operators. These people call the member families to remind them of special doings or inform them of an emergency.

THE LIVONIA Jewish Congregation started 15 years ago in a farmhouse. The community outgrew that building and bought a vacant church building on Middle Belt at Six Mile.

Later that synagogue was sold and space was rented at 31460 Seven Mile.

Jewish education remains an important part of the LJC program. The Yeshivah, an orthodox Hebrew school, conducts regular weekday afternoon classes.

Education at LJC often extends to persons of other faiths.

"We get calls from all religious denominations," said Banks, who offers his telephone as a number to call when no one is at the synagogue.

A Methodist youth group visited one of the regular Friday services and a Catholic church in the area requested a visit from Rabbi Gordon to help its parishioners get better acquainted with Judaism.

Those who come to visit, Banks said, "get a prayer book written in Hebrew and English so they can follow the service."

ISADORE AND RACHELLE Banks are full of praise for their rabbi. Martin Gordon, a man in his thirties, is strict in his personal following the Jewish law, they said. He walks, regardless of the weather, the two miles between his home and the synagogue for Sabbath services.

"He is so humanitarian and modest," Banks added. "He would do things for people that very few religious leaders will do."

"Imagine, once my television went on the bum. When the rabbi found out about it, he called me and said not to pick it up because he thought it was too heavy for me to lift."

"Then he came, carried the TV to his car, took us to the repair shop, drove us home, and asked us to call him again when it was to be ready."

LARGER JEWISH congregations have a rabbi, a cantor and a sexton, but Rabbi Gordon performs all these functions for the LJC.

A number of converts to the Jewish faith are in the congregation, Banks said, and "surprisingly they are more active than most of our members."

Banks thinks he has an explanation. "It's like an alien who tries to become a citizen so he can vote. Once he becomes a citizen he may think, well, maybe to vote is not so important."

For Isadore Banks, to be a member of a suburban Jewish congregation is of top importance. It's an idea he strives to pass along.

Dr. Razvi will talk on Islam

Dr. Shameem A. Razvi, Westland resident, is offering church groups in need of summer speakers free visits to explain more about the Islam faith.

Born in Arabia and reared in India, Dr. Razvi works for the Detroit Board of Education and began several months ago to offer his services to promote understanding of Moslems.

He said there had been good response to his offer and he wants it known he still is available during summer months. He may be reached through his brother, Fitrat Mohani, 33505 Cowan, Westland.

Larry Hoyt is speaker

Larry Hoyt, executive secretary of Presbyterians United for Biblical Concerns, will be the speaker for morning and evening services in Ward United Presbyterian Church, 17000 Farmington Road, Livonia.

His topic at 9:30 and 11 a.m. will be "You can be sure if it's..." and at 7 p.m., he will speak on "What to do when God says no."

The organization Hoyt heads has stood for a strongly Biblical affirmation in the Presbyterian church's life and mission.

New Lutheran school to install 2

Though newly-organized Huron Valley Lutheran High School hasn't settled on a location for its September opening, it will have a fully-installed principal and teacher after Sunday, July 27.

The Rev. Karl S. Peterson and Herbert R. Kluth will be installed in a special service scheduled at 7:30 p.m. in St. John Evangelical Lutheran Church, 32520 Glenwood, Westland. Pastor Peterson will be principal and religion teacher for the new school, and Kluth will teach science and mathematics.

The principal said classes definitely will begin in September, and there will be an announcement later as to which of several temporary sites now under consideration will be used.

He also said the Huron Valley Lutheran High School Association plans to purchase property for a permanent location in the Wayne-Washtenaw area.

INDUCTING THE men into their new responsibilities will be the Rev. Lyle Hallauer of Ann Arbor, chairman of the Huron Valley association, which comprises Wisconsin Synod Lutherans.

The Rev. Elron Bickel of Toledo will deliver the sermon and the Rev. Robert Baer, pastor of the host congregation will serve as liturgist. Special organ music will be provided by Frederick Biedenbender.

PASTOR PETERSON is a native of St. James, Minn., and a graduate of Martin Luther Academy at New Ulm, Minn. He has degrees from Northwestern College at Watertown, Wis., and Wisconsin Lutheran Seminary at Mequon, Wis., and in August will receive a master's in New Testament studies from Samford University at Birmingham, Ala.

He has been pastor of Our Savior Evangelical Lutheran Church in Birmingham for six years. He and his wife and two children have moved to Michigan and will live in Ann Arbor.

Kluth, a native of South Dakota, also is a graduate of Martin Luther College and is working on advanced programs in biology and science at Eastern Michigan University.

He has taught previously in Columbus and Kenosha, Wis. He and his wife and son will make their home in Westland.

Mass marks nun's 25 years

Sister Mary Alicia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse J. Bomya of Garden City, will mark her 25th anniversary as a Sister of Charity with special services Sunday, July 27.

A mass of thanksgiving is scheduled at 4 p.m. in St. Mel Catholic Church of Dearborn Heights. A reception in the church hall will follow.

The principal celebrant for the mass will be the Rev. Thomas A. Edison, longtime friend of the Bomya family and now retired and living in Redford Township.

Concelebrants will include the Rev. Richard Schmidberger of St. Genevieve Catholic Church of Livonia and the Rev. Leo Broderick of St. John Provincial Seminary in Plymouth.

Sister Mary Alicia is principal of Holy Redeemer Elementary School in Kensington, Md. She has taught 13 years in schools in the Archdiocese of Washington and before that had 12 years in Ohio parochial schools.

A graduate of the Shrine of the Little Flower High School in Royal Oak, she received degrees from Mt. St. Joseph College in Ohio in 1962 and from Xavier University in Cincinnati in 1968.

Mt. St. Joseph is the home of the Sisters of Charity motherhouse.

Sister Mary Alicia plans to go to Rome in September to attend the canonization ceremonies for Elizabeth Ann Seton, who founded the order.

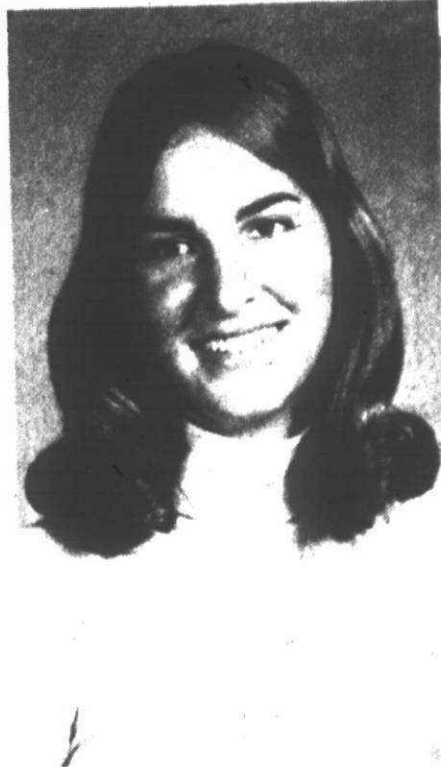

Joining with her and her parents in the festivities marking her 25th anniversary will be her brother, Raymond J. Bomya of Livonia; two sisters, Mrs. William J. Stein of Livonia and Mrs. Donald E. Olness of Dearborn Heights and nine nieces and nephews.

SR. MARY ALICIA

Joy-Calus

Majeske-Denski

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Joy of Grove Street, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna, to Ed Calus of Westland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Calus of Meadowbrook, Livonia.

The bride-elect is a 1972 graduate of Stevenson High School and is employed by Farmer Jack Supermarkets.

Her fiancé graduated from Churchill High School in 1972 and is also employed by Farmer Jack.

An October wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Majeske of Parkdale Avenue, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen Eren, to Paul William Denski Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Denski of Brentwood Avenue, Plymouth.

The bride-elect is a 1975 graduate of Churchill High School. Her fiancé graduated from Plymouth Salem High School in 1973 and is self-employed. They plan to marry in the summer of 1976.

Ward bikers ready for trip in U.P.

The Cross Countrymen, a biking organization of more than 30 young people from Ward United Presbyterian Church of Livonia, will leave Friday, July 25, for a 14-day cycling trip through Michigan's upper peninsula and into Wisconsin.

With challenging daily rides and prayer and Bible study morning and evening, their trip is aimed at building body and spirit as well as having an enjoyable time, said Terry Prisk, Ward youth leader.

"The goal of the trip is to help each individual come back matured in many ways, with a big emphasis on the spiritual," he said.

"Teamwork is a must, and will be maintained on the entire trip, and because of this emphasis the young people and leaders will learn how to get along with each other in many different settings."

WARD YOUTH have made bike trips in past years, but this is the first time girls will be joining the group. Sharing the leadership with Prisk will be Jerry Miller, director of a biking organization, "Outspokin'," of Elkhart, Ind.

The 650-mile bike trip will take the group from St. Ignace to Sault Ste. Marie, then along the Lake Superior shore to Marquette and down into Wisconsin.

The 10-speed bikes then will head back east toward the Mackinac Bridge. After crossing Big Mac, the young people will spend a day on Mackinac Island before returning home.

Travel will be by bus between Livonia and the straits.

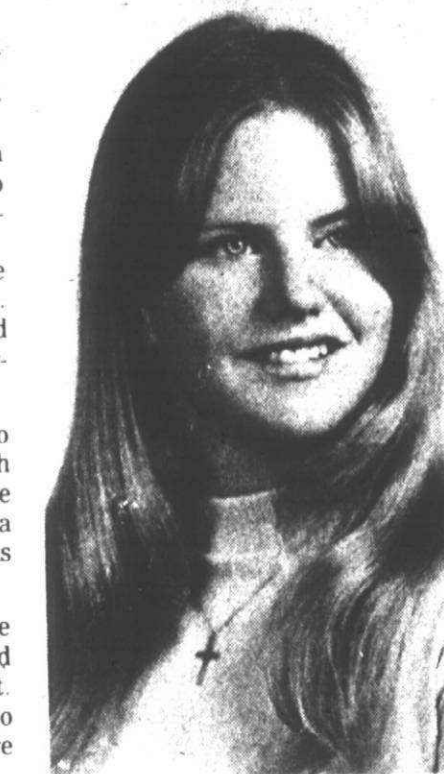

MORNING DEVOTIONS will start each day, and in the evenings Prisk will conduct a study of the book of Philippians, covering the entire text in the 14 days.

A cook has been hired to travel with the van that carries equipment, so meals will be provided for the travelers along the way.

Safety considerations also have been important in planning the trip. Each biker will wear a helmet and each bike will have a fluorescent orange tail flap and flag.

A motorcycle, equipped with radio so there can be communication with the van driver, will travel behind the last of the bikers. It also will have a walkie-talkie, a medical kit and tools to repair disabled bikes.

The riders have been trained to ride in clusters, five or six together, and the groups about half a mile apart. This is an advantage to motorists who will be able to pass the bikers more easily.

Merkel-Jones

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert J. Merkel of Southwestern Avenue, Redford Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Scheryll Marie May, to Ronald Kevin Jones, son of Mrs. Johanna Jones of Livonia and the late W.N. Jones. The bride-elect is a 1972 graduate of Thurston High School and employed as a medical bookkeeper by the Evangelical home in Detroit. Her fiancé graduated from Benedictine High School in Detroit in 1973 and works as a department manager for United Sporting Goods in Livonia. They will be married Sept. 13 in St. John Bosco Catholic Church, Redford Township.

Women pick new officers

Mrs. Harvey Moelke is the newly elected president of the Livonia City Woman's Club.

Elected to serve with her for the 1975-76 season are Mrs. John Chor, first vice-president; Mrs. Herbert McKenzie, second vice-president; Mrs. Mark Bivins, recording secretary; Mrs. James Hall, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Bernard Vermeesch, treasurer.

The club will begin its new season with a luncheon Thursday, Sept. 18 which will feature a talk on self-protection by patrolman Don Vandersloot of the Crime Prevention Bureau, which involves the communities of Livonia, Westland and Wayne.

The club's philanthropic work this year included donations to the Penrickton Center for Blind Children, the Redford Union school district program for hearing impaired, Belleville's Girlstown, the Clarenceville High School band and a scholarship to Schoolcraft College.

County faces $7 million deficit, auditors report

WAYNE COUNTY—Unless a strict savings plan already in effect for six months is strengthened and continued, Wayne County faces a potential $7 million budget deficit by the end of November, according to the County Board of Auditors.

The three-member Board of Auditors warned of that possibility in a July 17 report to the board of commissioners' ways and means committee.

"We think the mandatory savings plan should be continued, and we reiterate our earlier statement that the expansion of existing programs or espousal of new programs requiring additional funding must be scrupulously avoided," the report said.

The mandatory savings plan was ordered by commissioners in March when the auditors were predicting a possible $6.5 million deficit that could reach $10 million if spending continued at the same level.

The new $7 million deficit projection is based on revenue and expenditure through May 31, the half-way point in the fiscal year which ends Nov. 30, the auditors' report said. The deficit could range from a high of $8 million to a low of $1.2 million.

In urging continuation of the mandatory savings plan the report notes that county departments have already achieved savings that will amount to an estimated $6.5 million by Nov. 30.

Under the plan, line item departments such as the County Clerk, Register of Deeds and Auditors have saved $2.6 million, the court system has saved $1.4 million, the County General Hospital, $2.4 million, and the Sheriff's Department, $150,000.

The auditors—John H. Gourlay, chairman; Leonard D. Proctor, vice chairman; and Richard T. Kelly, secretary—said in the report that they did not credit contingent revenues which they are not positive the county will receive by Nov. 30.

The contingent revenue amounts to a total of $10 million, more than the highest projected deficit, and includes:

- $1 million in revenue due from the City of Detroit for the 1974-75 payment under terms of the old welfare merger agreement. The report, however, said Detroit has taken no action to appropriate these funds in its current fiscal year.

- $3.5 million for capital improvements projects transferred into the general operating fund.

- $4.9 million from the state for the operation of Common Pleas Court, and $600,000 reimbursement for Recorder's Court judges' salaries. These appropriations have been approved by the House of Representatives, but are awaiting Senate approval.

Milliken nixes mileage bill

LANSING—Gov. William G. Milliken has returned to the House a bill which would have repealed inadvertently conflict of interest regulations covering county boards of commissioners.

The measure (HB 5013) would have allowed mileage compensation for county commissioners to be determined by resolution of the board—eliminating several state-imposed restrictions. The rate of the compensation would not exceed the rate set for state officers by the State Officers Compensation Commission.

In studying the measure, the governor's staff found that while repealing several limitations on commission compensation, the bill also repealed a section which imposed conflict of interest regulations on the county officials.

When the error was brought to the attention of the Legislature July 18, the House asked that the measure be returned to it for correction.

Gems put more than sparkle in life

"Thou hast been in Eden, the garden of God; every precious stone was thy covering, the sardius, topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold..." (Ezekiel 28:13)

Recently, I spent a very pleasant weekend with friends on the beach near Port Sanilac. Along with many happy memories, nearly all of us toted home at least one or two bags filled with beautifully marked stones of all colors.

Many of these ageless rocks contain fossils imprinted on their surfaces long ago.

FINGERING these stones and holding them in your palm one at a time, a sensitive person soon feels different sensations from each stone.

Some even seem to give off a heat of their own, perhaps a memory of the hundreds of years it has laid in the sun. Others are cold to the touch, like the icy waters of the lake in which they tossed about for centuries.

I have always collected rocks but not because of their mineral content. In fact, I don't even recognize most of them by their geological names. I like to collect rocks that look unusual or have special meaning for me, or because of certain sensations I feel when I hold them.

Some witches believe stones give off vibrations that can affect their owners in different ways. The following is a list of the symbolic meanings of precious and semi-precious stones often worn in jewelry.

AGATE is considered a lucky stone for matters concerning your job or career. It is also carried as protection against jealous people who might scheme against you.

AMBER is believed to attract mercy, compassion and sympathy for its owner.

AMETHYST was carried in olden times to prevent the desire for drinking and to bring peace of mind and serenity.

AQUAMARINE is worn by those who are unhappy, for it symbolizes hope.

BERYL is carried to attract the opposite sex.

BLOODSTONE represents courage.

CORAL is worn for a long and happy marriage and to encourage reason and wisdom.

DIAMOND is symbolic of fidelity and constancy. The Hebrews considered it a symbol of the sun and invisible fire.

EMERALD is said to bring gaiety, joy, eloquence, popularity and strength for the aged.

GARNET is believed to encourage friendship.

JADE is protection against nightmares and evil spells; also symbolic of immortality.

JET symbolizes sadness and grief, often worn during periods of mourning.

MOONSTONE is said to help reconcile quarreling lovers, and lends reverence and respect for conjugal love.

OBSDIAN, sometimes called Apache Tears, is believed to encourage health, long life and general good fortune.

ONYX is symbolic of discord. The wearer is said to attract sadness and be easily drawn into quarrels and misfortune. This is a stone often given to one's enemies.

OPAL is considered unlucky for anyone not born in October, but believed to bring health, wealth, and happiness to its owner if his birthday is in that month.

PEARL is a stone most witches never wear. They consider them symbolic of tears. Some believe, however, that, when swallowed, they can calm a violent temper.

RUBY is considered a very bad omen for the one who is wearing it if its color changes by a slight degree.

SAPPHIRE is lucky for lovers. Hindus attribute occult powers to this stone.

TOPAZ is the topic of many Scottish legends. In ancient days it was worn for protection in battle. It is also a symbol of sobriety, fairness and faithfulness.

TURQUOISE is thought to ward off violence and keep the wearer ever youthful.

Almost everyone is familiar with birthstones, but some people also believe there is a special stone for each day of the week. Whoever is given stones for both the day and month of his birth will be fortunate indeed.

The birthstones are:

January - garnet
February - amethyst
March - aquamarine
April - diamond
May - emerald
June - pearl or moonstone
July - ruby
August - sardonyx or peridot
September - sapphire
October - opal
November - topaz
December - turquoise

Stones for the days of the week are:

Sunday - ruby
Monday - pearl and opal
Tuesday - amethyst and bloodstone
Wednesday - jade or agate
Thursday - emerald and sapphire
Friday - turquoise
Saturday - onyx

My favorite lucky stone is one I picked up on another trip to the beach many years ago. Of no value to anyone but me, it brings back memories of a happy occasion and feels wonderfully warm when I hold it.

Cut-rate insurance drive started for non-smokers

LANSING—A drive to get legislative support for lower insurance rates for non-smokers has been begun by State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth). Citing evidence that non-smokers are better insurance risks, Pursell has initiated a legislative resolution to convince insurance companies to drop their rates for non-smokers.

The resolution, if approved, would express the Legislature's desire for the move, but would not have legal force to compel price breaks. Copies of the request would be sent to all insurance companies operating in Michigan.

Pursell, whose district includes Livonia, Plymouth and Redford Township, said he would back up his resolution with a request for a bill to require the lower rates. If voluntary action is not forthcoming, the Legislature could then take up the bill to order price reductions.

"I'm convinced that non-smokers offer insurance companies lower risks in property and auto insurance as well as health insurance," Pursell said July 18. "The medical risks of smoking are very well documented and, in my opinion, quite conclusive. Therefore, lower life insurance premiums for non-smokers seem easily justifiable."

"Non-smokers run a significantly lower risk of property damages since their homes are not threatened by careless smoking habits which contribute to so many fires."

"While there is less factual data on smoking risks in relation to automobiles, the possible accident-provoking distractions of hot ashes and smoke would also seem to make non-smokers a better risk in this area."

WELCOME TO ACTION OLDS GRAND OPENING PARTY

MUSIC! DANCES! PRIZES! The action team from Action Olds invites you to their Grand Opening Party. The Red Garter Band will entertain nightly so you can dance under the stars with your favorite someone. There will be door prizes including 10-speed bikes, free refreshments and of course, pretty girls. On Friday August 1st, a Lion star will host a Grand Prize drawing of season tickets to Lion games. It's our way of introducing Livonia to Livonia's newest Oldsmobile dealer, Action Olds. Where the action starts tomorrow and continues all year around!

ACTION BUYS ON EVERY OLDS IN STOCK. Our Grand Opening is timed perfectly for special action buys on every Olds in stock...including the popular Cutlass Supreme. On display in the entertainment area will be Omegas, Delta 88's, Ninety Eights, Toronados, Starfires--all tagged with special red-white-blue close-out prices, the lowest you've seen this year. (So you can mix a little business with your fun, and save a bundle to boot!) The action all starts Tuesday, July 29th, and continues through Friday, August 1st.

Watch for Grand Opening II, Coming Mid-September

Let's Get The Economy Moving Again, America!

We want to do our part, so we have a plan to make it easy for you to buy the home you want right now. You can buy Woodgate townhomes at savings up to $1,000 less than previously offered prices. These are inventory homes and we want to sell them now, so we can start building again. That's our part in putting the building industry back on its feet before our bicentennial year.

You benefit with a great bargain, and benefit again with a 5% tax credit next year.*

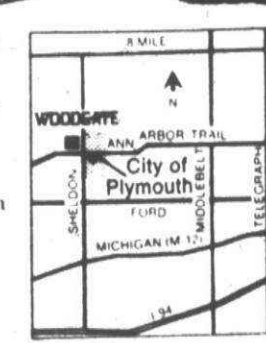

Woodgate is located in the historic Plymouth area, with landmarks of our American heritage. What better place to celebrate 1976! So make your move to Woodgate and we'll get America moving again.
